Student Effort To Spread Ala. School Boycott Fails

Angry Protests Bring Warning Of Prosecution

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Persistent angry protests against school integration in Birmingham brought a warning Friday of possible federal prosecution.

White students continued to boycott newly desegregated schools here and at Tuskegee, although attendance was higher than Thursday.

Teen-age demonstrators, shouting rebel yells and waving anti-Negro placards and Confederate flags, tried again to get students in still-segregated schools to join in a sympathy walkout. The effort fell flat for the most part.

In Huntsville and Mobile, where racial barriers also fell recently under federal court orders, Negro and white students went to class together again without incident.

The scene in Mobile was peaceful in contrast to Thursday's demonstration which resulted in arrest of 54 students.

Grand Jury Calls Four
A spokesman for the anti-Negro National States Rights party said he and three of his aides have been subpoenaed by a specially convened U.S. grand jury meeting here next Monday.

Dr. Edward R. Fields, the party's information director and editor of the party's publication, "The Thunderbolt," pledged to continue a campaign "to establish white private schools."

A statement from the office of U.S. attorney Macon L. Weaver said the grand jury was called to determine if anyone has unlawfully tried to obstruct federal court school desegregation orders.

Maximum penalty for obstructing federal court orders is one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Attendance Up At One School

National States Rights party members have spearheaded demonstrations protesting the presence of Negroes in previously white West End High, Ramsey High and Graymont Elementary schools in Birmingham. Several members of the party have been arrested.

Hundreds of white students remained away from West End High for the fourth straight day, but the Birmingham School Board said attendance was higher than at any time since the boycott began. It said 511 students showed up for class Friday morning, compared with 465 Thursday.

At Ramsey and Graymont, attendance remained about the same.

Reports Engle Critical Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clair Engle's office said Friday he is not in critical condition after brain surgery and continues "to improve daily." But it will take a month or two to determine his capacity to work.

The staff and attending doctors declined direct comment on stories in California newspapers that the California Democrat is suffering from an inoperable brain tumor which has left him partially paralyzed, unable to talk and in grave condition.

Mrs. Engle also refused to confirm or deny the tumor report. She told a reporter she has not given up hope for her husband's life.

In California, Engle's brother, Fred, California's state director of conservation camps, denied that the senator is paralyzed.

Professional Men Seized In Viet Nam

Doctor And Three Lawyers Arrested By Secret Police

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The secret police drive against anti-government activity — heretofore centered on Buddhist and student opposition — has broadened to the ranks of Vietnamese professional men, official sources said Friday.

A physician and three lawyers were reported under arrest on suspicion of working against President Ngo Dinh Diem's administration.

Official informants and medical sources, speaking privately, listed the prisoners as:

Prof. Dao Duc Hoanh, a doctor who has served in one of Saigon's biggest hospitals and on the medical faculty of the University of Saigon.

Former Official Seized

Attorney Tran Dinh Thao, a former minister of national education and secretary of state for justice.

Attorney Hoang Quoc Tan, another member of the Saigon Bar Association.

On the other side of the world, Viet Nam's political-religious crisis is remained a prime topic at the 61-nation Interparliamentary Union conference in Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

Ceylonese delegate Maithripala Senanayake challenged Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu's denial that there was persecution of Buddhists in South Viet Nam. He called their treatment by Diem's government "a serious violation of human rights and a threat to world peace."

Barred by conference rules from the floor, the president's dynamic official hostess planned to present her rebuttal in a news conference Saturday.

Thant Draws Crossfire

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant drew a crossfire from Paris and Saigon for his remarks at a New York news conference Thursday. A Saigon radio broadcast, recalling that Burma is ruled by a military regime which imprisoned Premier U Nu and his Cabinet ministers in 1962, lashed out at Thant for saying Diem's administration operates through force.

"The secretary-general of the United Nations, who is a Burmese, seems to be completely oblivious of the fact that in his own country the army has thrown a duly elected government into jail," it said.

Greek Primate Rebuffs Vatican

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The head of the Greek Orthodox Church turned down Friday appeals for unity with the Roman Catholic Church. He called the Roman Church "centralist and absolutist."

"The Orthodox world will never be disposed to accept the infallibility of the Pope," said Archbishop Chrysostomos.

The archbishop, primate of Greece, talked with newsmen less than a week before Orthodox churchmen from around the world are scheduled to meet on Rhodes to discuss Pope Paul VI's invitation to send observers to the Vatican's Ecumenical Council.

Most of them, led by Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople (Istanbul), are invited to favor accepting the invitation. The Greek branch of the Orthodox Church, however, has maintained stiff opposition.

CHICAGO (AP)—Billowing fire burst into a fourth-floor surgical section at Mercy Hospital on Friday while four operations were in progress.

The flames, so savage that they brought collapse of a roof segment, were snuffed out in less than one hour by nearly 170 firemen, as 109 patients were evacuated from the 94-year-old wing without an injury.

Thielman gave credit for "a miraculous stop" to an all-Negro fire company, Engine 19, the first to arrive. The little group of five, including Lt. Even as Tate and his men went into action, a team of surgeons worked with deliberation in the operating room.

Cuba Spurns Demand It Free 19 Refugees

LONDON (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's government has rejected Britain's demand for the release of 19 Cuban refugees kidnapped from a British Caribbean island, the Foreign Office said Friday.

The Havana regime also refused to give guarantees that it will refrain from similar "invasions" of British territorial waters and territory, a spokesman said.

Heat On Capital's Wig Shops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wig boom in Washington has busted wide open.

The nation's capital reputedly is the hottest wig city in the country, but the heat is on the wig shops.

Three investigations are under way, a fourth in prospect. Forty-four collection suits are pending against as many defaulting wig-wearers. Countersuits have been filed against wig-sellers.

Some women who paid for fine European hair have complained they got cheaper, and coarser, Oriental hair. Some say they got yak hair. One got red spots on her head, she said.

The telephoned complaints of women who sought allure and found disillusion have kept one clerk busy full-time all week at the city's license office. Another

Wigs were selling like used cars, and for a reason. A contingent from the used-car lots had moved into the wig business and made it hum.

The Washington Star made that disclosure first. Reporter Miriam Ottenberg, who won a Pulitzer Prize in 1960 for triggering a civic crackdown on unregulated used car dealers and salesmen, found out where some of the erstwhile auto merchants had gone.

Tax-Slash Bill Is Lambasted By Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans asserted Friday a tax cut proposed in an administration-backed bill awaiting House action would amount to only "cigarette money" for the average wage earner.

Nine of the 10 GOP members of the Ways and Means Committee charged also in a minority report that an amendment proposed by the Treasury Department would result in a $4.4-billion windfall to big business over the next 10 years.

The 10th Republican, Rep. Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, did not sign the report.

The committee approved the bill early this week. It is scheduled for House debate Sept. 24.

The Republicans said they oppose a tax cut at this time and called the measure "an integral part of an over-all fiscal program of planned deficits — a tax cut on borrowed money."

"A tax cut of more than $11 billion with no hope of a balanced budget for the foreseeable future, is both morally and fiscally wrong," they asserted.

The Republicans rejected what they called "President Kennedy's claim that planned deficits will produce economic prosperity."

"Past experience," they added, "shows that deficits produce the opposite result."

"Is the tax cut worth the price?" they asked. "For the average wage earner, the bill will result in a tax reduction by the year 1965 of between $1.50 and $2 per week. Are these taxpayers willing to have the government go into debt at the rate of $10 billion per year for the foreseeable future to give them the equivalent of cigarette money?"

The big business windfall in the bill, the Republicans said, is "a sleeper" repealing a 1962 provision by which the tax credit given to business on account of the purchase of new equipment must be deducted from the cost of the equipment.

Officials here emphasized that the United States has no reason to believe there have been any violations of treaty provisions limiting the use of bases to peaceful purposes but is exercising its right to make such a determination through inspection.

Kennedys Don Flight Jackets For Cruise

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Kennedy and wife Jacqueline donned flight jackets Friday to ward off a chill wind during an afternoon cruise on choppy Narragansett Bay.

Despite overcast skies, the Kennedys were spending a festive weekend to celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary. They were married in this historical coastal city 10 years ago Thursday and marked the anniversary at a private party Thursday night.

The cruise aboard the White House yacht Honey Fitz was the President's second outing of the day.

Shortly before noon, he took the wheel of a small, white sedan and drove the several miles from luxurious Hammersmith farm — the weekend White House — to the Newport Naval Base.

Las Vegas Rocks During A-Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Rolling earth tremors shook Las Vegas Friday at about the time the heavier of two underground nuclear blasts was touched off at the Nevada test site 80 miles away.

An earthquake authority expressed doubt they were related.

There were no reports of damage or injury but courthouse workers said they felt the building rock.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said he could not speculate as to whether Friday's nuclear explosions caused the earth to shake in Las Vegas.

"I can tell you two nuclear tests were conducted today — one of low yield and one of intermediate yield."

U.S. To Inspect Russian Bases In Antarctica

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States served notice Friday it will carry out an inspection of bases in Antarctica—including the four maintained by the Soviet Union — between November and March.

The inspection right is given under a 1959 treaty which bound the United States and 11 other nations to use Antarctica only for peaceful purposes.

The State Department said in a statement that the formal inspection "is not based on any anticipation that there have been treaty violations."

The statement said the United States has advised the other treaty nations that it would welcome an inspection of U.S. bases.

U.S. officials refused to say whether there had been any formal objections raised, but indicated that there were. However, the objections apparently are not serious enough to prevent the operation from going forward.

Officials here emphasized that the United States has no reason to believe there have been any violations of treaty provisions limiting the use of bases to peaceful purposes but is exercising its right to make such a determination through inspection.

GOP Must Offer Choice To Win, Barry Declares

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Talking like a man who would like to try, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona said Friday that Republicans can win in 1964 if they offer a "clear-cut choice" to President Kennedy.

Goldwater, a conservative possibility for his party's presidential nomination although not an announced candidate, said in a speech prepared for the Republican Men's Club that no "Little Sir Echo" nominee will do.

He criticized GOP members he said advocate offering "the warmed-over, watered-down arguments of the Democrats," and said this would deny the American people "the clear-cut choice they want."

"The Republicans can and must offer this nation a choice when any of our candidates go before the electorate," he said. "We must offer the chance for sound policies here at home and for freedom around the world. We don't want to be known as Little Sir Echo. We want real Republican voices and choices to be heard."

"Those who would put chains on that choice do not serve Republican principles; they serve only liberal Democratic objectives of spending and spending to elect and elect."

The chains he was talking about, Goldwater said, would be applied by those who argue "that the Republican party should suspend its efforts in the South because a determined effort in that area might give the party a racist tinge and cost our candidates votes in the metropolitan areas of the North."

Capitol Police Eject Defiant Girls, Youths

Hecklers Hauled Screaming From Cuba Visit Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weeping college girls and youths in beatnik garb were hauled screaming and shouting from a House hearing room Friday in a violent windup of two days of excitement on Capitol Hill.

While members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities questioned youthful Americans who defied a State Department ban and went to Cuba, police wagons — sirens wailing — hauled off five young people who noisily protested the inquiry. All were released later.

Police officials said Capitol Hill had never experienced such a series of violent outbreaks as occurred during the hearing.

And, as the hearing ended its end, new violence exploded inside the House caucus room.

Thirteen demonstrators — some of them shrieking as police held their arms behind them — were carried from the room after they applauded defiant criticism of the committee by a girl who made the Cuban journey.

Police Get Tough
It was the third—and by far the toughest—show of police force in the hearing room itself.

"Let them alone!" shouted others in the hearing room—packed by some 300 spectators, newsmen and two dozen visiting congressmen.

At the main entrance to the big office building, across Independence Avenue from the Capitol, police literally threw out the demonstrators.

Some of them tumbled down the long marble stairway of the sidewalk.

One of the final witnesses was Catherine Prenskey, 29, a student at City College of New York.

She told the committee "socialism is the way to end racism and under socialism we can have congressmen who are truly representative and who are not elected because Negroes are not allowed to vote."

Applause burst out, and Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., ordered police to remove the demonstrators.

Many Banned At Start
Earlier, police stopped dozens of young demonstrators out of the building at the start of the afternoon session.

Four of the 59 who went to Cuba June 25 and returned two weeks ago were questioned during the troubled windup session.

When it was over, Willis told newsmen he believes the demonstrations were Communist-inspired.

"That's how they operate, through fronts," Willis said. "The big boys who don't show up are the boys who organize these demonstrations."

Willis said an organization called the Progressive Labor Movement was the key group in organizing the demonstrations.

He said his subcommittee — which has held periodic hearings since last spring to determine whether U.S. travel regulations and foreign agent registration laws should be stiffened—will conduct more inquiries later.

But he said testimony on the Cuban visit has been completed.

Police said the students—many wearing Castro-style beards—came to Washington in two chartered buses.

After the hearing ended, Levi Laub of New York, who led the delegation that went to Cuba, told reporters: "I'm starting right now to organize another trip to Cuba."

Demonstrations marked the morning session and the uproar grew in volume when the meeting reconvened after lunch.

Refugees Plan Cuban Exodus

EDITOR'S NOTE—Rafael Rodriguez, leader of a band of 80 Cubans who fled their homeland by ship to Mexico last week, says he did not flee to sit back and enjoy himself but to return and organize more such expeditions and to help tear out "the evil" by the roots. His own story, as put down by AP correspondent Oscar Kaufman, follows.

By RAFAEL RODRIGUEZ COZUMEL, Mexico (AP) — Ninety-five per cent of my compatriots are not Communists. If they had the opportunity, all of them would do what we did—leave our beloved island.

Either that or—with weapons and an opportunity—they would overthrow Fidel Castro, because it is impossible to eat or to live in our country.

Neither I nor the biggest majority of my friends fled Cuba with the intention of sitting back and enjoying ourselves.

We want to, we have to, return to Cuba at the earliest possible opportunity to organize more expeditions such as this one.

But it is not merely a question of bringing out of the island those who do not wish to live under a Communist dictatorship. The evil we have to be torn out by the roots, group of American students who visited Cuba recently at Castro's invitation.

Nobody is beaten to death in Cuba. They are mentally tortured or allowed to die slowly from lack of food and other necessities.

I was a prisoner for 41 days in the Fortaleza de la Cabana and I know that 30 or 40 death sentences are carried out daily.

At night, the prisoners pass the time by counting the coup de grace shots. That's how we know how many are killed each day.

Invited foreigners who, with a big show and flourish, are shown Castro's Cuba are also segregated from the Cuban people. No contact with them is permitted.

In short, visitors see only what the Castro regime wants them to see. This was the case with the group of American students who visited Cuba recently at Castro's invitation.

Truck-Car-Bus Crash Kills Four

PRINCETON, W. Va. (UPI) — Four persons were killed and at least five injured when a tractor-trailer truck crashed into a car and then peeled open the side of a Greyhound bus on U. S. 119 about 19 miles north of here.

The victims were identified as Willie Moya, 43, Dunnes, Mercer County, the driver of the car; Mrs. Mabel Wilcox, 50, of Beaver, Raleigh County; Fordyce Townes, Patterson, N. J., and Virginia Lee Townes, also of Patterson. The bus was enroute to Detroit.

State Police said the truck's rear section struck the car while coming down a hill, came loose and sideswiped the bus.

The deaths brought to 14 the number of persons killed on West Virginia highways the past two days.

The three investigations in progress are by the Federal Trade Commission, the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Washington, and the D.C. Department of Licenses and Inspections.

Licensing officials will meet Sept. 18 with a delegation of licensed hairdressers and beauticians, who are demanding that the wig stores be licensed and regulated.

Although fine hand-made wigs sell justifiably for large sums, officials say, few first-time wig-buyers are able to distinguish them from mass-produced machine-made wigs.

Tax-Slash Bill Is Lambasted By Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans asserted Friday a tax cut proposed in an administration-backed bill awaiting House action would amount to only "cigarette money" for the average wage earner.

Nine of the 10 GOP members of the Ways and Means Committee charged also in a minority report that an amendment proposed by the Treasury Department would result in a $4.4-billion windfall to big business over the next 10 years.

The 10th Republican, Rep. Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, did not sign the report.

The committee approved the bill early this week. It is scheduled for House debate Sept. 24.

The Republicans said they oppose a tax cut at this time and called the measure "an integral part of an over-all fiscal program of planned deficits — a tax cut on borrowed money."

"A tax cut of more than $11 billion with no hope of a balanced budget for the foreseeable future, is both morally and fiscally wrong," they asserted.

The Republicans rejected what they called "President Kennedy's claim that planned deficits will produce economic prosperity."

"Past experience," they added, "shows that deficits produce the opposite result."

"Is the tax cut worth the price?" they asked. "For the average wage earner, the bill will result in a tax reduction by the year 1965 of between $1.50 and $2 per week. Are these taxpayers willing to have the government go into debt at the rate of $10 billion per year for the foreseeable future to give them the equivalent of cigarette money?"

The big business windfall in the bill, the Republicans said, is "a sleeper" repealing a 1962 provision by which the tax credit given to business on account of the purchase of new equipment must be deducted from the cost of the equipment.

U.S. To Inspect Russian Bases In Antarctica

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States served notice Friday it will carry out an inspection of bases in Antarctica—including the four maintained by the Soviet Union — between November and March.

The inspection right is given under a 1959 treaty which bound the United States and 11 other nations to use Antarctica only for peaceful purposes.

The State Department said in a statement that the formal inspection "is not based on any anticipation that there have been treaty violations."

The statement said the United States has advised the other treaty nations that it would welcome an inspection of U.S. bases.

U.S. officials refused to say whether there had been any formal objections raised, but indicated that there were. However, the objections apparently are not serious enough to prevent the operation from going forward.

Officials here emphasized that the United States has no reason to believe there have been any violations of treaty provisions limiting the use of bases to peaceful purposes but is exercising its right to make such a determination through inspection.

There are 36 permanent stations maintained in the Antarctic by treaty agreement.

Kennedys Don Flight Jackets For Cruise

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Kennedy and wife Jacqueline donned flight jackets Friday to ward off a chill wind during an afternoon cruise on choppy Narragansett Bay.

Despite overcast skies, the Kennedys were spending a festive weekend to celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary. They were married in this historical coastal city 10 years ago Thursday and marked the anniversary at a private party Thursday night.

The cruise aboard the White House yacht Honey Fitz was the President's second outing of the day.

Shortly before noon, he took the wheel of a small white sedan and drove the several miles from luxurious Hammersmith farm — the weekend White House — to the Newport Naval Base.

Capitol Police Eject Defiant Girls, Youths

Hecklers Hauled Screaming From Cuba Visit Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weeping college girls and youths in beatnik garb were hauled screaming and shouting from a House hearing room Friday in a violent windup of two days of excitement on Capitol Hill.

While members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities questioned youthful Americans who defied a State Department ban and went to Cuba, police wagons — sirens wailing — hauled off five young people who noisily protested the inquiry. All were released later.

Police officials said Capitol Hill had never experienced such a series of violent outbreaks as occurred during the hearing.

And, as the hearing neared its end, new violence exploded inside the House caucus room.

Thirteen demonstrators — some of them shrieking as police held their arms behind them — were carried from the room after they applauded defiant criticism of the committee by a girl who made the Cuban journey.

Police Get Tough

It was the third — and by far the toughest — show of police force in the hearing room itself.

"Let them alone!" shouted others in the hearing room — packed by some 300 spectators, newsmen and two dozen visiting congressmen.

At the main entrance to the big office building, across Independence Avenue from the Capitol, police literally threw out the demonstrators.

Some of them tumbled down the long marble stairway of the sidewalk.

One of the final witnesses was Catherine Prenskey, 29, a student at City College of New York.

She told the committee "socialism is the way to end racism and under socialism we can have congressmen who are truly representative and who are not elected because Negroes are not allowed to vote."

Applause burst out, and Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., ordered police to remove the demonstrators.

Many Barred At Start

Earlier, police tossed dozens of young demonstrators out of the building at the start of the afternoon session.

Four of the 59 who went to Cuba June 25 and returned two weeks ago were questioned during the troubled windup session.

When it was over, Willis told newsmen he believes the demonstrators were Communist-inspired.

"That's how they operate, through fronts," Willis said. "The big boys who don't show up are the boys who organize these demonstrations."

Willis said an organization called the Progressive Labor Movement was the key group in organizing the demonstrations.

He said his subcommittee — which has held periodic hearings since last spring to determine whether U.S. travel regulations and foreign agent registration laws should be stiffened — will conduct more inquiries later.

But he said testimony on the Cuban visit has been completed.

Police said the students — many wearing Castro-style beards — came to Washington in two chartered buses.

After the hearing ended, Levi Laub of New York, who led the delegation that went to Cuba, told reporters: "I'm starting right now to organize another trip to Cuba."

Demonstrations marked the morning session and the uproar grew in volume when the meeting recovered after lunch.

GOP Must Offer Choice To Win, Barry Declares

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Talking like a man who would like to try, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona said Friday that Republicans can win in 1964 if they offer a "clear-cut choice" to President Kennedy.

Goldwater, a conservative possibility for his party's presidential nomination although not an announced candidate, said in a speech prepared for the Republican Men's Club that no "Little Sir Echo" nominee will do.

He criticized GOP members he said advocate offering "the warmed-over, watered-down arguments of the Democrats," and said this would deny the American people "the clear-cut choice they want."

"The Republicans can and must offer this nation a choice when any of our candidates go before the electorate," he said. "We must offer the chance for sound policies here at home and for freedom around the world. We don't want to be known as Little Sir Echo. We want real Republican voices and choices to be heard."

"Those who would put chains on that choice do not serve Republican principles; they serve only liberal Democratic objectives of spending and spending to elect and elect."

The chains he was talking about, Goldwater said, would be applied by those who argue "that the Republican party should suspend its efforts in the South because a determined effort in that area might give the party a racist tinge and cost our candidates votes in the metropolitan areas of the North."

Burglar Sleeps Through Arrest

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A burglary suspect, sprawled on a display chair inside a drug store and surrounded by liquor bottles, slept through his arrest Friday morning.

Police said Karl Harris, 40, South Bend, snoozed peacefully as they handcuffed him to the chair and then began checking the store for missing items.

Officers said Harris admitted he broke the glass in a door to enter the store in the Belleville shopping center. He was taken to jail.

Refugees Plan Cuban Exodus

EDITOR'S NOTE—Rafael Rodriguez, leader of a band of 89 Cubans who fled their homeland by ship to Mexico last week, says he did not flee to sit back and enjoy himself but to return and organize more such expeditions and to help tear out "the evil" by the roots. His own story, as put down by AP correspondent Oscar Kautzman, follows.

By RAFAEL RODRIGUEZ COZUMEL, Mexico (AP) — Ninety-five per cent of my compatriots are not Communists. If they had the opportunity, all of them would do what we did — leave our beloved island.

Either that or — with weapons and an opportunity — they would overthrow Fidel Castro, because it is impossible to eat or to live in our country.

Neither I nor the biggest majority of my friends fled Cuba with the intention of sitting back and enjoying ourselves.

We want to, we have to, return to Cuba at the earliest possible opportunity to organize more expeditions such as this one.

But it is not merely a question of bringing out of the island those who do not wish to live under a Communist dictatorship. The evil has to be torn out by the roots.

I have men in the Escambray Mountains, many men, who are struggling to overthrow the infamous Castro dictatorship.

We shall return to them; the sooner the better.

Our homeland is full of Russians. They are in a world apart, without contact with the Cuban people. But it is they who dictate. That we can not tolerate. The people suffer increasingly worse hunger and privation. Most do not even have shoes.

Invited foreigners who, with a big show and flourish, are shown Castro's Cuba are also segregated from the Cuban people. No contact with them is permitted.

In short, visitors see only what the Castro regime wants them to see. This was the case with the group of American students which visited Cuba recently at Castro's invitation.

Nobody is beaten to death in Cuba. They are mentally tortured or allowed to die slowly from lack of food and other necessities.

I was a prisoner for 41 days in the Fortaleza de la Cabana and I know that 30 or 40 death sentences are carried out daily. At night, the prisoners pass the time by counting the coup de grace shots. That's how we know how many are killed each day.

Gov. Wallace Booed At Panel Discussion

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama told an audience that both booted and applauded him Friday that the civil rights crisis is caused by politics, hypocrisy and Communists.

Participating in a panel discussion at which Howard K. Smith of the American Broadcasting Co. was the moderator, Wallace reacted sharply to the boos.

"That's right—boo," he said. At another point when the audience laughed, he said "That's right, laugh."

The boos came when he charged the march on Washington was led by Communists and sex perverts. To other statements, however, there was scattered applause.

Other participants were Dr. Robert V. Spike, executive director of the National Committee on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches; Frederick C. Malkus Jr., Democratic state senator from Dorchester County; Dr. Irene Diggs, professor of sociology at Morgan State College, a predominantly Negro institution in Baltimore; and C. Stanley Mazer, an assistant to Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore.

About 50 people carried integration signs at the entrance to Goucher College, where the conference was held. On the other side of the entrance, about 10 people carrying the banners of the Dr. Spike said to loud applause.

Lawyers Guilty Of Embezzlement Are Disbarred

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two Baltimore attorneys were disbarred Friday by judges of the Baltimore Supreme Bench.

Francis X. Dippel and Henry E. Wisowatz, both recently convicted of embezzlement in connection with their handling of a number of estate cases, did not contest the disbarment proceedings.

Only hours earlier, Judge Charles D. Harris reduced the 15-year sentence of Dippel to five years and cut the 15-year term of Wisowatz to 7½ years. Judge Harris pointed out that both men had made considerable restitution in the various cases involved.

Test Ban Pact Gains Support Of Sen. Jackson

WASHINGTON (AP) — The limited nuclear test ban treaty gained an influential backer Friday when Sen. Henry M. Jackson announced he would vote for it. The Washington Democrat is considered one of the Senate's top military experts.

Jackson said, "My heart is not leaping up" over the pact but with the safeguards assured to protect the nation's security, "I believe that the Senate may prudently give its advice and consent to ratification."

But Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, firmly maintained his opposition. He told the Senate the pact would permit the Soviet Union to "leap-frog further ahead of us" in nuclear weaponry in one to three years.

Stennis denied that the Joint Chiefs of Staff support the treaty and challenged President Kennedy's statement that the U.S. has committed itself to it.

Sen. Jack R. Miller, R-Iowa, said he did not accept the argument that Russian acceptance of the treaty stems from "pressures from the Soviet people wanting more economic well being."

He said the Soviets will be spending more money, not less, on their military capability.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said the treaty establishes a precedent by allowing the United States "to deal directly with our most formidable enemy" without getting its allies' prior consent.

A Paris highwayman was the first one to die by the guillotine. He was beheaded on April 25, 1792.

Capitol Police

(Continued from Page 1) one of the group that went to Cuba as the guests of Fidel Castro, testified at the morning hearing that those making the trip had broken no law.

Willis then called Wendie Nakashima, 23, a woman of Japanese descent, to the witness chair. She gave her married name as Mrs. Jacob Rosen, and said she lives in Atlanta.

Counsel Alfred Nittle asked her about others who joined the student journey to Cuba. She gave this response:

"Mr. chairman, I will not be a stool pigeon or a rat."

Luce testified he is "very proud to work for an organization that stands for civil liberties," referring to the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee.

Nittle said the committee has been cited by the government as "a legal arm of the Communist party."

"That's a lie, Mr. Nittle. That's a lie," the red-moustached Luce said loudly.

A burst of applause drowned out a comment by Nittle about FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

"I don't care what J. Edgar Hoover said or who said it," Luce replied.

Judge Ponders His Right To Act In Picket Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — U.S. District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, openly searching for justification, studied Friday whether he had authority to review a state court order against picketing at a segregated housing development in Bowie.

He promised lawyers for the Congress of Racial Equality and Levitt & Sons, the builders, he would decide promptly.

A score of demonstrators have been arrested since Prince Georges County Circuit Court Judge Ralph W. Powers granted the injunction against trespassing at the Belair development.

Fred Weisgal, lawyer for CORE, argued that issuance of the injunction amounted to state action in abridging rights of citizens which is against the U.S. constitution.

"It looks like economic pressure and not an assertion of constitutional rights," Judge Thomsen said of the demonstrations.

He also pointed out to Weisgal that Judge Powers had declined to accompany the injunction with an order to local police to enforce it.

Judge Thomsen further questioned Weisgal whether removal of the injunction proceeding wouldn't mean that every criminal and civil action relating to trespass also could be taken to U.S. courts and that "the state has lost its right to try any."

He asked Weisgal how Judge Powers' signature on an injunction was different from actions of a grand jury or magistrate in trespass cases.

"This is a civil liberties issue," replied Weisgal. "Levitt has said he won't sell to Negroes and wants to stop them from demonstrating to force him."

Joseph Rouliac, attorney for Levitt, described Weisgal's request as "a novel ground for asserting federal jurisdiction."

He said a federal question must be an essential part of the original complaint to qualify for consideration by a U.S. court.

McGurken is one of five defendants charged with mail fraud in connection with operation of Security Financial Insurance Corporation. Now insolvent, it had been the only corporation with a Maryland charter to insure accounts in savings and loan associations.

The other defendants are A. Gordon Boone, who suspended himself as Democratic speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates when the indictments were returned earlier this year; Charles F. Culver, another former delegate; C. Oran Mensik, Chicago financier; and D. Spencer Grow, savings and loan operator from Provo, Utah.

Jury Acquits State's Attorney Of Malfeasance

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP)—Charles A. Norris, St. Mary's County state's attorney, was acquitted Friday to two charges of malfeasance after a two-day trial.

An all-male jury took only 15 minutes to reach a verdict.

Norris, 29, who has lived all his life in Leonardtown, was mobbed by townspeople who congratulated him after the verdict was announced. He is the only state's attorney in Maryland's history to be indicted while in office.

The indictment against Norris charged that he failed to make proper use of a witness and withheld pertinent information from a grand jury investigating a Charlotte Hall gambling club.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Sweeney, who prosecuted the case, charged that Norris withheld from the grand jury information about John Passarelli, a close friend and creditor of Norris, who had been gambling in the casino shortly before a raid in June.

Sweeney told the jury that the state's evidence proved that Norris knew about Passarelli's involvement, but did not make it known when he questioned Passarelli before the grand jury and did not call him as a witness in the trial of three men convicted of operating the casino.

Capt. Thomas Smith, chief of the Maryland State Police intelligence unit, testified that he was "very pleased with the over-all results" of the raid because it ended a gambling operation and brought about the conviction of Joseph Nesline, Washington, whom Smith described as a top national gambling figure.

Man Critical From Mushroom Poisoning

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Jerry Ashburn, assistant to the senior planning official for Fairfax County, was reported to be in critical condition Friday from mushroom poisoning.

It is the second case of such poisoning to be reported in the Washington area in a week. A 10-year-old boy from Chevy Chase, Md., died Saturday from mushroom poisoning. Other members of his family were hospitalized.

Ashburn is in Fairfax Hospital. His office associates said he picked some mushrooms at his home on Sunday and cooked and ate them that night.

Antietam Memorial Service Tomorrow

SHARPSBURG, Md. (AP) — A memorial service observing the 101st anniversary of the Battle of Antietam, bloodiest of the Civil War, will be held Sunday.

The rededication by the Antietam Memorial Commission will precede the actual anniversary date of the battle by two days.

W. Preston Lane Jr., former Democratic governor, will deliver the main address at the ceremony before the Maryland monument.

Special guests will include Stephen Ailes, under secretary of the Army, Dr. S. K. Stevens of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, and James Davenport, retired Army general.

Lawyer's Plea To Quit Fraud Case Refused

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maurice J. Walsh, Chicago attorney, was denied permission Friday to withdraw as counsel in a Maryland mail fraud trial because he also is committed to defend James R. Hoffa, president of the teamsters union, in Chicago.

"I'm sympathetic to your plea," U.S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins told Walsh, "but granting it would cause an indefinite delay of this court's hearings."

"This case was set first, I can't see releasing you."

Walsh is to represent Henry McGurken, another Chicago lawyer, in a trial scheduled to start before Watkins Sept. 23.

McGurken is one of five defendants charged with mail fraud in connection with operation of Security Financial Insurance Corporation. Now insolvent, it had been the only corporation with a Maryland charter to insure accounts in savings and loan associations.

The other defendants are A. Gordon Boone, who suspended himself as Democratic speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates when the indictments were returned earlier this year; Charles F. Culver, another former delegate; C. Oran Mensik, Chicago financier; and D. Spencer Grow, savings and loan operator from Provo, Utah.

Republicans Map Strategy

FREDERICK (AP) — Twenty-two of the 32 Republican members of the Maryland General Assembly met at the Francis Scott Key Hotel Friday to map strategy for the next session of the legislature.

The five senators and 17 delegates concerned themselves with proposals to be made by the administration.

Six sub-committees were appointed to determine whether certain proposals should be accepted, opposed or an alternative offered.

The six are broken down into budgetary, roads, redistricting, reapportionment and equalization of pay and benefits of state employees.

The chairmen of the sub-committees will report their findings at a meeting here the first week of November.

There were representatives from Carroll, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery Counties.

Only about 11 per cent of the cars on U. S. roads are less than two years old.

Suburbanites Described As City "Freeloaders"

BALTIMORE (AP) — Suburbanites were pictured as freeloaders who use city services without paying for them during a panel discussion Friday on the problems of metropolitan growth.

Mayor Raymond A. Tucker of St. Louis said one way to solve the problem was establishment of central taxing authorities.

Tucker said establishment of individual authorities for such services as transportation, air pollution, sewerage or water would simply add to the maze of already existing governmental units and the result would be chaos.

He said in St. Louis County there are 98 incorporated communities — each with its own mayor and council.

The panel discussion on "The Metropolis" was sponsored by WJZ-TV of Baltimore.

Also on the panel were Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore, Spiro T. Agnew, Baltimore County (chief) executive; Chalothiel W. Smith, a planner from Washington, D.C., and William E. Finley, vice president in charge of community development for a Baltimore planner.

Agnew, McKeldin and Finley agreed with Tucker that a way must be found to make suburbanites pay for the city services they use.

Sailor Drowns As Big Waves Swamp Launch

PORT JEFFERSON, N.Y. (UPI) — Three big waves swamped a Navy liberty launch causing it to capsize before dawn today pitching the 21 sailors aboard into the chilly waters of Long Island Sound. Helicopters and rescue boats picked up 20 men and one was missing and presumed drowned.

The Navy said the missing man was Torpedoman Third Class James Lee Vice, 20, whose father Lorin Carl Vice lives in San Pedro, Calif.

The launch was returning the men to the U.S.S. Hazelwood after a night ashore. It overturned less than 300 yards from the destroyer which was anchored about 1,300 yards off Port Jefferson.

Darkness, fog and intermittent rain hampered the search. Temperatures plunged to 46 degrees, the coldest on record for this date.

Gov. Wallace Boomed At Panel Discussion

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama told an audience that both boomed and applauded him Friday that the civil rights crisis is caused by politics, hypocrisy and Communists.

Participating in a panel discussion at which Howard K. Smith of the American Broadcasting Co. was the moderator, Wallace reacted sharply to the boos.

"That's right—boo," he said. At another point when the audience laughed, he said "That's right, laugh."

The boos came when he charged the march on Washington was led by Communists and sex perverts. To other statements, however, there was scattered applause.

Other participants were Dr. Robert V. Spike, executive director of the National Committee on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches; Frederick C. Malkus Jr., Democratic state senator from Dorchester County; Dr. Irene Diggs, professor of sociology at Morgan State College, a predominantly Negro institution in Baltimore, and C. Stanley Mazer, an assistant to Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore.

About 50 people carried integrationist signs at the entrance to Goucher College, where the conference was held. On the other side of the entrance, about 10 people carrying the banners of the

Lawyers Guilty Of Embezzlement Are Disbarred

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two Baltimore attorneys were disbarred Friday by judges of the Baltimore Supreme Bench.

Francis X. Dippel and Henry E. Wisowaty, both recently convicted of embezzlement in connection with their handling of a number of estate cases, did not contest the disbarment proceedings.

Only hours earlier, Judge Charles D. Harris reduced the 15-year sentence of Dippel to five years and cut the 15-year term of Wisowaty to 7½ years. Judge Harris pointed out that both men had made considerable restitution in the various cases involved.

Test Ban Pact Gains Support Of Sen. Jackson

WASHINGTON (AP) — The limited nuclear test ban treaty gained an influential backer Friday when Sen. Henry M. Jackson announced he would vote for it. The Washington Democrat is considered one of the Senate's top military experts.

Jackson said, "My heart is not leaping up" over the pact but with the safeguards assured to protect the nation's security, "I believe that the Senate may prudently give its advice and consent to ratification."

But Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, firmly maintained his opposition. He told the Senate the pact would permit the Soviet Union to "leap-frog further ahead of us" in nuclear weaponry in one to three years.

Stennis denied that the Joint Chiefs of Staff support the treaty and challenged President Kennedy's statement that the U.S. has committed itself to it.

Sen. Jack R. Miller, R-Iowa, said he did not accept the argument that Russian acceptance of the treaty stems from "pressures from the Soviet people wanting more economic well being." He said the Soviets will be spending more money, not less, on their military capability.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said the treaty establishes a precedent by allowing the United States "to deal directly with our most formidable enemy" without getting its allies' prior consent.

(Continued from Page 1) one of the group that went to Cuba as the guests of Fidel Castro, testified at the morning hearing that those making the trip had broken no law.

Willis then called Wendie Nakashima, 23, a woman of Japanese descent, to the witness chair. She gave her married name as Mrs. Jacob Rosen, and said she lives in Atlanta.

Counsel Alfred Nittle asked her about others who joined the student journey to Cuba. She gave this response:

"Mr. chairman, I will not be a stool pigeon or a rat." Luce testified he is "very proud to work for an organization that stands for civil liberties," referring to the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee.

Nittle said the committee has been cited by the government as "a legal arm of the Communist party."

"That's a lie, Mr. Nittle. That's a lie," the red-moustached Luce said loudly.

A burst of applause drowned out a comment by Nittle about FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

"I don't care what J. Edgar Hoover said or who said it," Luce replied.

Judge Ponders His Right To Act In Picket Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — U.S. District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, openly searching for justification, studied Friday whether he had authority to review a state court order against picketing at a segregated housing development in Bowie.

He promised lawyers for the Congress of Racial Equality and Levitt & Sons, the builders, he would decide promptly.

A score of demonstrators have been arrested since Prince Georges County Circuit Court Judge Ralph W. Powers granted the injunction against trespassing at the Belair development.

Fred Weisgal, lawyer for CORE, argued that issuance of the injunction amounted to state action in abridging rights of citizens which is against the U.S. constitution.

"It looks like economic pressure and not an assertion of constitutional rights," Judge Thomsen said of the demonstrations.

He also pointed out to Weisgal that Judge Powers had declined to accompany the injunction with an order to local police to enforce

Judge Thomsen further questioned Weisgal whether removal of the injunction proceeding wouldn't mean that every criminal and civil action relating to trespass also could be taken to U.S. courts and that "the state has lost its right to try any."

He asked Weisgal how Judge Powers' signature on an injunction was different from actions of a grand jury or magistrate in trespass cases.

"This is a civil liberties issue," replied Weisgal. "Levitt has said he won't sell to Negroes and wants to stop them from demonstrating to force him."

Joseph Roulhac, attorney for Levitt, described Weisgal's request as "a novel ground for asserting federal jurisdiction."

He said a federal question must be an essential part of the original complaint to qualify for consideration by a U.S. court.

Jury Acquits State's Attorney Of Malfeasance

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP)—Charles A. Norris, St. Mary's County state's attorney, was acquitted Friday to two charges of malfeasance after a two-day trial.

An all-male jury took only 15 minutes to reach a verdict.

Norris, 29, who has lived all his life in Leonardtown, was mobbed by townspeople who congratulated him after the verdict was announced. He is the only state's attorney in Maryland's history to be indicted while in office.

The indictment against Norris is slated to go to New York around Sept. 22 for a fortnight of talks with foreign dignitaries at the U.N. session, including Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

In addition to Kennedy, six chiefs of state, seven heads of government and 59 foreign ministers have indicated they will be on hand during the U.N. meeting.

The President intends to see Gromyko too, but aides said this would be in Washington. Soviet Premier Khrushchev has said he will not attend the U.N. session this year.

Lawyer's Plea To Quit Fraud Case Refused

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maurice J. Walsh, Chicago attorney, was denied permission Friday to withdraw as counsel in a Maryland mail fraud trial because he also is committed to defend James R. Hoffa, president of the teamsters union, in Chicago.

"I'm sympathetic to your plea," U.S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins told Walsh, "but granting it would cause an indefinite delay of this court's hearings."

"This case was set first, I can't see releasing you," Walsh is to represent Henry McGurran, another Chicago lawyer, in a trial scheduled to start before Watkins Sept. 23.

McGurran is one of five defendants charged with mail fraud in connection with operation of Security Financial Insurance Corporation. Now insolvent, it had been the only corporation with a Maryland charter to insure accounts in savings and loan associations.

The other defendants are A. Gordon Boone, who suspended himself as Democratic speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates when the indictments were returned earlier this year; Charles F. Culver, another former delegate; C. Oran Mensik, Chicago financier, and D. Spencer Grow, savings and loan operator from Provo, Utah.

Suburbanites Described As City "Freeloaders"

BALTIMORE (AP) — Suburbanites were pictured as freeloaders who use city services without paying for them during a panel discussion Friday on the problems of metropolitan growth.

Mayor Raymond A. Tucker of St. Louis said one way to solve the problem was establishment of central taxing authorities.

Tucker said establishment of individual authorities for such services as transportation, air pollution, sewerage or water would simply add to the maze of already existing governmental units and the result would be chaos.

He said in St. Louis County there are 98 incorporated communities — each with its own mayor and council.

Sailor Drowns As Big Waves Swamp Launch

PORT JEFFERSON, N.Y. (UPI) — Three big waves swamped a Navy liberty launch causing it to capsize before dawn today pitching the 21 sailors aboard into the chilly waters of Long Island Sound. Helicopters and rescue boats picked up 20 men and one was missing and presumed drowned.

The Navy said the missing man was Torpedoman Third Class James Lee Vice, 20, whose father Lorin Carl Vice lives in San Pedro, Calif.

The launch was returning the men to the U.S.S. Hazelwood after a night ashore. It overturned less than 300 yards from the destroyer which was anchored about 1,300 yards off Port Jefferson.

Darkness, fog and intermittent rain hampered the search. Temperatures plunged to 46 degrees, the coldest on record for this date.

J. L. Huffman Is Named To LaVale Unit

A replacement appointment on the LaVale Sanitary Commission was made yesterday by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

J. L. Huffman, plant engineer at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, was named to succeed Paul Ruble, engineer with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company who has been transferred to Freeport, Ill. by his company.

Both Huffman and Ruble are graduates of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and have mechanical engineering degrees.

The nomination of Huffman was made to the County Commissioners by the LaVale Civic Improvement Association after it was announced that Ruble had been transferred to Illinois.

Besides Huffman, comprising the Sanitary Commission are Chester A. Fisher, chairman, and Lloyd L. Buchanan.

Huffman, who lives on Illinois Street in LaVale, is a native of Roanoke, Va., and in addition to receiving his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from VPI, he attended Bluefield College.

He joined Hercules Powder Company in September 1951 as a line foreman trainee at Radford, Va., Ordinance Plant. He advanced through various positions up to project engineer at Radford.

In July 1959, Huffman came to Allegany Ballistics Laboratory as a group supervisor and later was promoted to plant engineer. He belongs to Roanoke Lodge 200, BPO Elks; was secretary-treasurer of the Virginia Radio Club and also belongs to the Mountain Radio Club here. He served in World War II as a lieutenant in the First Infantry Division in Europe.

Optimists Plan To Sell Bulbs

The Bowling Green-Potomac Park Optimist Club will hold a light bulb sale September 25 and 26 and October 2 and 3, with proceeds to go to the club's Boys' Work Projects.

Boys' activities sponsored by the club include Boy Scouts, Youth Appreciation Week, and an oratorical contest.

The club also decided at its recent meeting to investigate possibilities of taking over and maintaining the park in Potomac Park as a community project.

Five-Day Forecast

WEST VIRGINIA — Temperatures will average two to four degrees below a normal high and low range of 82-86 in the south and 77-80 in the north. Quite cool Saturday, rising temperatures Sunday and Monday, cooler Tuesday or Wednesday. Rainfall may average one fourth to one-half inch, occurring Monday or Tuesday.

There are more than four million tractors in use on American farms.

Rev. Logan Takes Post In Iowa

Rev. Robert B. Logan, minister of Christian Education at St. John's Lutheran Church, has accepted a call to go to St. Mark's parish in Davenport, Iowa, in a similar capacity.

Rev. Mr. Logan will conclude his duties at St. John's Church on October 1 and be installed in the Davenport post in mid-October.

During his three and a half-year ministry at St. John's, Rev. Mr. Logan expanded the weekday Church School from four to 12 grades and organized a kindergarten. He also was instrumental in the purchase of a bus to serve the needs of the schools of the congregation, as well as for the summer excursion program of the Luther League.

A member of the Christian Education committee of the Lutheran Synod of Maryland and chairman of the Division of Christian Education of the Allegany County Council of Churches, Rev. Mr. Logan has conducted leadership courses on congregation and community levels.

An Eagle Scout himself, he has worked with Scout Troop 5. Rev. Mr. Logan has been active in all phases of parish work here and was director of St. John's vacation church schools.

Born in Turtle Creek, Pa., he attended public schools there before graduating from Gettysburg College and Seminary. Appointed pastor of Emmanuel Church at Woodstock, Va., he guided that congregation in the planning and construction of a $100,000 Christian Education building during his eight-year ministry.

Electing to specialize in the area of Christian Education, Pastor Logan did graduate work in that field prior to his affiliation with the local congregation.

Rev. Mr. Logan guided the activities and conducted many of the services of the Lutheran Chapel in LaVale that eventually led to establishment of Christ Lutheran Church.

County Policy Set For Dog Bites

Filling an apparent void in the Allegany County dog laws, the Board of Allegany County Commissioners set a policy to be followed in case of persons bitten by dogs.

Gorman C. Getty, attorney to the board, pointed out that it was brought to the attention of the commissioners by the state's attorney's office that a man had been bitten on both legs by a dog belonging to a Mt. Savage area woman.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, told Getty, in referring to this case, that the policy in case of dog bites was to chain the animal and to make observations of its behavior every two or three days to see if there were any outward symptoms of rabies.

However, Getty emphasized that this was not a proper procedure.

Fish have very few nerves around the mouth.

to follow due to the danger of infection involved.

Upon his suggestion, the County Commissioners approved a policy that states that the dog warden will pick up any dog that has been reported as biting a person.

The animal will then be taken immediately to a veterinarian where it will be checked for rabies at the expense of the county.

The new procedure to be followed by the dog warden is the best method of protecting the person who has been bitten.

FBI Arrests Ray L. Hall In Florida

Edwin R. Tully, special agent in charge of the Baltimore Division, Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced the arrest yesterday by FBI agents in Miami, Fla., of Raymond Lawrence Hall, former Cumberland resident.

Hall was wanted by the State's Attorney's office here for forgery. FBI assistance had been requested by State's Attorney James S. Getty on August 13 when it was believed Hall had fled the state to avoid prosecution.

A federal warrant was issued on August 15 charging Hall with interstate flight to avoid prosecution for the crime of forgery. FBI investigation led to Miami where agents took him into custody last night.

Deadline Set For Filing County Plats

The deadline for filing plats of subdivisions with the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission was originally set for September 15, but the Board of Allegany County Commissioners was informed yesterday that the date has been extended in certain cases.

C. Lee Renaud, director of the planning body, pointed out that engineering and surveying firms in the county apparently have a considerable backlog of work. Many developers or owners have been unable to obtain engineering services to enable them to record these plats.

In an effort to provide assistance to these people, the commission will allow additional time if notified in writing by October 15 of the owners' and developers' intention to record an existing subdivision where lots have been sold.

It was pointed out that there are subdivisions in the county where some lots have been sold, but not recorded in the Land Records of Allegany County.

If the planning commission approves the plat for "existing subdivision" status, Renaud pointed out, then building permits for this approved subdivision may be issued and the plat must be recorded no later than November 15.

It was emphasized that this procedure does not affect any new subdivisions that are being created.

ed as these will be processed in accordance with the procedures as outlined in "Subdivision Regulations for Allegany County." All questions regarding the commission's procedure pertaining to existing plats should be directed to the planning commission, office in the basement of the Court House.

Cresap DAR Will Hold Open House

The annual fall luncheon honoring state officers, and observance of Constitution Week September 17-23 were discussed at the meeting of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Wednesday at the home of Mrs. R. Finley Thompson, Rose Hill Avenue. Miss Mary Brengle was co-hostess.

Mrs. Thompson appointed Mrs. Arch Hutcheson and Mrs. Leslie Randall chairmen for the luncheon, which will be October 9 at 12:30 p.m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Mrs. Eliot C. Lovett, Chevy Chase, state regent, and Miss Susie Jolley Frazier, Washington, chairman of approved schools, will be guest speakers.

Stressing that Constitution Week affords an opportunity for schools and churches to hold appropriate ceremonies to urge citizens to keep faith with the Founding Fathers, it was pointed out that this is a religious nation and Americans a religious people. It was pointed out that "running through all-American history are golden threads of religious conviction, and America will survive as long as she remains loyal to her spiritual heritage."

As its observance, Cresap Chapter will hold "Open House" at the Toll Gate house September 17 and 20 from 1 until 4 o'clock. Hostesses for the 17th are Mrs. Leslie Randall, Mrs. John Findlay, Mrs. Marshall Miller and Miss Brengle; and for the 20th, Mrs. Norman Taylor, Mrs. Thompson and Miss Ruth Clauson.

The meeting was opened with the ritual conducted by Miss Clauson. The pledge to the flag was led by Mrs. Findlay and Mrs. Arch Hutcheson read the president general's message. At the close of the meeting a recording of the "DAR Story" was played. Others present were Mrs. Randall, Mrs. Walter Pierce, Mrs. Taylor, and Mrs. Joseph Massara.

Auxiliary Will Hold Dinner

Plans for a tag day sale and covered dish dinner were formulated at the meeting of Ladies Auxiliary 1125 to the Veterans of World War I, conducted by Mrs. Grace Cross at the VFW home. Mrs. Chloe Reynolds and Mrs. Catherine Wilson were named co-chairmen for the former, which will be October 12.

Mrs. Rosalie Everstine and Mrs. Ina L. Smith are co-chairmen for the dinner October 9. It will be at 6 p. m. at the post home, preceding the regular meeting. All members are asked to bring a covered dish.

Following the opening ritual the salute to the flag was given and prayer was offered. The charter was draped for Mrs. Myrtle Brode who died last week. Mrs. Reynolds gave the legislative report. Mrs. Edith Castleman reported on sick cards and sympathy cards sent. Also that Charles C. Moore, Mrs. Margaret Ziler and Mrs. Ruth Lindner are patients in Memorial Hospital, and Paul Shanski, husband of Mrs. Josephine Shanski is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital. It was announced that the auxiliary will have delegates attend the district convention September 27-29. The prize for the evening was won by Mrs. Gertrude Smeltzer. Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Clara Manthey served refreshments.

Winners At Fair Reported

Union Grove Homemakers Club had four winners at the fair and the club received $15 for its handicraft demonstration, it was announced at the meeting conducted by Mrs. Ruthella Fey at the home of Mrs. Albert Smouse. The demonstration was by Mrs. Helen White, Miss Eula McMacklin, Mrs. Smouse and Mrs. Fred Purnell. The Lord's Prayer was followed by silent prayer for the late Mrs. Clara Stacey, after which the flag salute was given and the group sang "America." Mrs. Fey read "Words of Wisdom," and welcomed five guests, Miss Nina Citez, Miss Verna Lee Bowling, Miss Pauline Hollahan, Miss Gloria Windish and Mrs. Helen Brown.

The thought for the month was given by Mrs. Holmes Cessna, who gave a routine report. Mrs. White reported on Adult Camp and exhibited handicraft. Mrs. Luther Brotemarkle gave the sunshine report and took the collection. She announced sweet potatoes are a good buy now. Mrs. Steve Bowling read the history of the hymn, "Call Jehovah Thy Salvation." Roll call was answered with favorite plants. Mrs. Lloyd Keller demonstrated on plants as a home accessory.

Announcement was made of the executive board meeting September 19 at the Court House; a training meeting for clothing chairmen September 24; and RWSCS dinner meeting October 3. Mrs. L. L. Sweitzer, Mrs. Mary Kpantz and Mrs. William Welsh will be October hostesses.

Miss Gloria Windish showed slides of her trip to the west coast and told of the trip. Mrs. Joseph Franklin and Mrs. Fey were cohostesses for the evening. Sixteen members attended.

TAKE PART IN "EDNA ENGLE NIGHT OF NOTE" — Sponsored by the Grand Temple of Maryland Pythian Sisters, a program was presented in honor of Mrs. Edna Engle Frostburg, who received the title of past supreme chief for meritorious service in music and four years a member of the supreme law committee. The title was conferred upon her in August 1962 in Chicago. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Anna Jenkins, Midland, grand chief of Maryland; George Engle, Frostburg, husband of the honor guest; Mrs. Engle, past supreme chief of the Supreme Temple, Pythian Sisters of the World; Mrs. Lois Alexander, Washington, daughter of Mrs. Engle; Mrs. Charlotte Bullock, Rocks, sister of Mrs. Engle. Standing are Ira Whittington, grand chancellor of the Grand Lodge of Maryland Knights of Pythias; Mrs. Nellie B. Miller, Lonaconing, member of the supreme law committee of the Supreme Temple and chairman for the program; and Stanley D. Alexander, Washington, son-in-law of Mrs. Engle. Mrs. Jenkins presided at the business sessions.

Pythians Honor Edna Engle

Emphasizing her service in music, Calanthe Temple 3, Pythian Sisters presented a program, "Edna Engle Night of Note," in honor of its past chief, Mrs. Edna Engle. It was given Thursday evening during the convention at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, and consisted of tributes emphasizing the different phases of her life. She was presented numerous gifts, one in the form of a scepter, to which a $100 note was attached, another monetary gift was in the form of a music book, which contained notes of different denominations.

Mrs. Engle was brought into the ballroom in a replica of an upright piano, painted pale pink and trimmed in pink roses. After it was placed in position, the front was removed, revealing Mrs. Engle seated before a white quilted nylon lining, decorated with musical notes.

Greetings were extended by various dignitaries for their groups, including Joseph Hacher, Chattanooga, Tenn., supreme chancellor of the Supreme Lodge Knights of Pythias; Mrs. Freida Stine, Washington, supreme senior of the Supreme Temple; Mrs. Anna Jenkins, grand chief, and Ira Whittington, grand chancellor of the Maryland Grand Temple and Lodge; and Mrs. Pauline Trickey, Cincinnati, Ohio, Swami of the Imperial Santha of Nomads of Avrudakah, accompanied by Mrs. Hester Sigmon, Roanoke, Va., past imperial regent.

David Williams, Midland, was soloist for the evening, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Elsie Blair, Midland. Mrs. Zaida Klein, Baltimore, did a musical number. Music for dancing was by Jeanette Broadwater and John Laughlin.

Refreshments were served by the general committee. 250 persons attended.

Personnel Opinion Rates Women Executives High

"You know, John, I don't think there's too much to the idea that women take direction from men more readily than from other women," the personnel officer of a big business organization said to me recently. "We see improvement here in a number of departments after a woman takes charge. In many kinds of work—far more than I once believed—women executives can't be beat."

"The reason seems to have a lot to do with personality. As I see it, the successful boss lady is more tactful than a man is about getting other people to do things. She sees everyone as an individual, not as a cog in the machine, and makes both the machine and the individual do what the individual does quite clear. This kind of thing does wonders."

"Then you would say that opportunities for executive jobs for women are increasing?" I asked.

"Yes, they are," was the reply, "and I'll go further than that by saying that women are more ready for them every day."

Tact, understanding, appreciation and the ability to show it—all of these can be developed anywhere a woman is, from the time she's a young girl through all her years. It may be necessary to learn the type of work you want to do at a particular time of your life, but the building of the personality traits needed to land one of the best jobs can go on all the time.

Mrs. Richard Cover Heads Cumberland Jayncees

The Jayncees elected officers and voted to present a check for $200 to Allegany Community College at the dinner meeting Wednesday evening at the Cumberland Country Club.

Mrs. Richard Cover was elected president; Mrs. Chris Lockard, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Smith, secretary, and Mrs. Jack Parks, treasurer. Mrs. Charles McKee, past president, automatically became a member of the board. Mrs. John Scharf and Mrs. Frederick Hill were elected to serve with her.

A board meeting will be held September 16. Mrs. Cover announced. It will be at her home in Bowling Green, at which time committees for the coming year will be selected. They in turn will meet to outline their projects for the year and present them to the members at the October 9 meeting, at which time the new officers will assume their duties.

Concluding the meeting, Mrs. Scharf, on behalf of the members, presented a silver charm inscribed with her term as eighth Jayncee president, to Mrs. McKee. Twenty-three members attended. Guests were Mrs. Fred Sharer, Mrs. Frank Pluta and Mrs. Robt Hutcheson.

Cresap DAR Will Hold Open House

The annual fall luncheon honoring state officers, and observance of Constitution Week September 17-23 were discussed at the meeting of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Wednesday at the home of Mrs. R. Finley Thompson, Rose Hill Avenue. Miss Mary Brengle was co-hostess.

Mrs. Thompson appointed Mrs. Arch Hutcheson and Mrs. Leslie Randall chairmen for the luncheon, which will be October 9 at 12:30 p.m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Mrs. Elliot C. Lovett, Chevy Chase, state regent, and Miss Susie Jolley Frazier, Washington, chairman of approved schools, will be guest speakers.

Stressing that Constitution Week affords an opportunity for schools and churches to hold appropriate ceremonies to urge citizens to keep faith with the Founding Fathers, it was pointed out that this is a religious nation and Americans a religious people. It was pointed out that "running through all-American history are golden threads of religious conviction, and America will survive as long as she remains loyal to her spiritual heritage."

As its observance, Cresap Chapter will hold "Open House" at the Toll Gate house September 17 and 20 from 1 until 4 o'clock. Hostesses for the 17th are Mrs. Leslie Randall, Mrs. John Findlay, Mrs. Marshall Miller and Miss Brengle; and for the 20th, Mrs. Norman Taylor, Mrs. Thompson and Miss Ruth Clauson.

The meeting was opened with the ritual conducted by Miss Clauson. The pledge to the flag was led by Mrs. Findlay and Mrs. Arch Hutcheson read the president's general message. At the close of the meeting a recording of the "DAR Story" was played. Others present were Mrs. Randall, Mrs. Walter Pierce, Mrs. Taylor, and Mrs. Joseph Massara.

Auxiliary Will Hold Dinner

Plans for a tag day sale and covered dish dinner were formulated at the meeting of Ladies Auxiliary 1125 to the Veterans of World War I, conducted by Mrs. Grace Cross at the VFW home. Mrs. Chloe Reynolds and Mrs. Catherine Wilson were named co-chairmen for the former, which will be October 12.

Mrs. Rosalie Everstine and Mrs. Ina L. Smith are co-chairmen for the dinner October 9. It will be at 6 p. m. at the post home, preceding the regular meeting. All members are asked to bring a covered dish.

Following the opening ritual the salute to the flag was given and prayer was offered. The charter was draped for Mrs. Myrtle Brode who died last week. Mrs. Reynolds gave the legislative report. Mrs. Edith Castleman reported on sick cards and sympathy cards sent. Also that Charles C. Moore, Mrs. Margaret Ziler and Mrs. Ruth Lindner are patients in Memorial Hospital, and Paul Shanski, husband of Mrs. Josephine Shanski is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital. It was announced that the auxiliary will have delegates attend the district convention September 27-29. The prize for the evening was won by Mrs. Gertrude Smeltzer. Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Clara Manthey served refreshments.

Winners At Fair Reported

Union Grove Homemakers Club had four winners at the fair and the club received $15 for its handicraft demonstration, it was announced at the meeting conducted by Mrs. Ruthella Fey at the home of Mrs. Albert Smouse. The demonstration was by Mrs. Helen White, Miss Eula McMacklin, Mrs. Smouse and Mrs. Fred Purcell. The Lord's Prayer was followed by silent prayer for the late Mrs. Clara Stacey, after which the flag salute was given and the group sang "America." Mrs. Fey read "Words of Wisdom," and welcomed five guests, Miss Nina Citez, Miss Verna Lee Bowling, Miss Pauline Hollahan, Miss Gloria Windish and Mrs. Helen Brown.

The thought for the month was given by Mrs. Holmes Cessna, who gave a routine report. Mrs. White reported on Adult Camp and exhibited handicraft. Mrs. Luther Brotemarkle gave the sunshine report and took the collection. She announced sweet potatoes are a good buy now. Mrs. Steve Bowling read the history of the hymn, "Call Jehovah Thy Salvation." Roll call was answered with favorite plants. Mrs. Lloyd Keller demonstrated on plants as a home accessory.

Announcement was made of the executive board meeting September 19 at the Court House, a training meeting for clothing chairmen September 24, and RWSCS dinner meeting October 3. Mrs. L. L. Switzer, Mrs. Mary Koptz and Mrs. William Welsh will be October hostesses.

Miss Gloria Windish showed slides of her trip to the west coast and told of the trip. Mrs. Joseph Franklin and Mrs. Fey were co-hostesses for the evening. Sixteen members attended.

TAKE PART IN "EDNA ENGLE NIGHT OF NOTE" — Sponsored by the Grand Temple of Maryland Pythian Sisters, a program was presented in honor of Mrs. Edna Engle Frostburg, who received the title of past supreme chief for meritorious service in music and four years a member of the supreme law committee. The title was conferred upon her in August 1962 in Chicago. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Anna Jenkins, Midland, grand chief of Maryland; George Engle, Frostburg, husband of the honor guest; Mrs. Engle, past supreme chief of the Supreme Temple, Pythian Sisters of the World; Mrs. Lois Alexander, Washington, daughter of Mrs. Engle; Mrs. Charlotte Bullock, Rocks, sister of Mrs. Engle. Standing are Ira Whittington, grand chancellor of the Grand Lodge of Maryland Knights of Pythias; Mrs. Nellie B. Miller, Lonaconing, member of the supreme law committee of the Supreme Temple and chairman for the program; and Stanley D. Alexander, Washington, son-in-law of Mrs. Engle. Mrs. Jenkins presided at the business sessions.

Pythians Honor Edna Engle

Emphasizing her service in music, Calanthe Temple 3, Pythian Sisters presented a program, "Edna Engle Night of Note," in honor of its past chief, Mrs. Edna Engle. It was given Thursday evening during the convention at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, and consisted of tributes emphasizing the different phases of her life. She was presented numerous gifts, one in the form of a scepter, to which a $100 note was attached, another monetary gift was in the form of a music book, which contained notes of different denominations.

Mrs. Engle was brought into the ballroom in a replica of an upright piano, painted pale pink and trimmed in pink roses. After it was placed in position, the front was removed, revealing Mrs. Engle seated before a white quilted nylon lining, decorated with musical notes.

Greetings were extended by various dignitaries for their groups, including Joseph Hacher, Chattanooga, Tenn., supreme chancellor of the Supreme Lodge Knights of Pythias; Mrs. Freida Stine, Washington, supreme senior of the Supreme Temple; Mrs. Anna Jenkins, grand chief, and Ira Whittington, grand chancellor of the Maryland Grand Temple and Lodge; and Mrs. Pauline Trickey, Cincinnati, Ohio, Swami of the Imperial Santha of Nomads of Avrudakha, Roanoke, Va., past imperial regent.

David Williams, Midland, was soloist for the evening, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Elsie Blair, Midland. Mrs. Zella Klein, Baltimore, did a musical number. Music for dancing was by Jeanette Broadwater and John Laughlin.

Refreshments were served by the general committee. 250 persons attended.

Personnel Opinion Rates Women Executives High

"You know, John, I don't think there's too much to the idea that women take direction from men more readily than from other women," the personnel officer of a big business organization said to me recently. "We see improvement here in a number of departments after a woman takes charge. In many kinds of work—far more than I once believed—women executives can't be beat."

The reason seems to have a lot to do with personality. As I see it, the successful boss lady is more tactful than a man is about getting other people to do things. She sees everyone as an individual, not as a cog in the machine, and makes both this and her appreciation of what the individual does quite clear. This kind of thing does wonders."

"Then you would say that opportunities for executive jobs for women are increasing?" I asked. "Yes, they are," was the reply, "and I'll go further than that by saying that women are more ready for them every day."

Tact, understanding, appreciation and the ability to show it—all of these can be developed anywhere a woman is, from the time she's a young girl through all her years. It may be necessary to learn the type of work you want to do at a particular time of your life, but the building of the personality traits needed to land one of the best jobs can go on all the time.

Mrs. Richard Cover Heads Cumberland Jayncees

The Jayncees elected officers and voted to present a check for $200 to Allegany Community College at the dinner meeting Wednesday evening at the Cumberland Country Club.

Mrs. Richard Cover was elected president; Mrs. Chris Lockard, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Smith, secretary, and Mrs. Jack Parks, treasurer. Mrs. Charles McKee, past president, automatically became a member of the board. Mrs. John Schartiger and Mrs. Frederick Hill were elected to serve with her.

A board meeting will be held September 16, Mrs. Cover announced. It will be at her home in Bowling Green, at which time committees for the coming year will be selected. They in turn will meet to outline their projects for the year and present them to the members at the October 9 meeting, at which time the new officers will assume their duties.

Concluding the meeting, Mrs. Schartiger, on behalf of the members, presented a silver charm inscribed with her term as eighth Jayncee president, to Mrs. McKee. Twenty-three members attended. Guests were Mrs. Fred Sharer, Mrs. Frank Pluta and Mrs. Robert Hutcheson.

DANGEROUS ROLES — Harry Guardino and Joan Freeman engage in exciting roles as animal trainers when they guest star with Jack Palance in "Lion on Fire," the premiere segment of Desilu's new one-hour color series, "The Greatest Show on Earth." The program airs on Tuesday, September 17 at 9 to 10 p. m. over ABC-TV network.

Trevor Howard To Narrate 'Greece: The Golden Age'

Trevor Howard, one of England's most distinguished film stars, will be narrator of "Greece: The Golden Age," the full-hour NBC News special to be presented in color on the NBC-TV Network Tuesday, November 5 (9-10 p. m. EST).

Lou Hazam, the program's producer and writer, announced the engagement of Howard. He said the actor will fly to New York from England later this week expressly to record the off-camera narration.

Though he has been an infrequent participant in American television, Howard won an Emmy Award in May from the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for the "outstanding science performance by an actor in a leading role." It was for his portrayal of the title role in "The Invincible Mr. Disraeli" on the NBC-TV "Hallmark Hall of Fame" April 4, 1963.

Howard has drawn widespread critical acclaim for his recent film portrayal as Captain Bligh in "Mutiny On the Bounty." Some of his many other motion picture hits were "Brief Encounter," "The Third Man," "The Heart of the Matter" and "Sons and Lovers."

Hazam's task force has been filming "Greece: The Golden Age" on location in Athens, Olympia, Delphi, Epidaurus, and the Greek off-shore islands. With the techniques he developed in "The Way of the Cross" and "Vincent Van Gogh: A Self-Portrait," Hazam hopes to "bring to life again the beauty, the thought, the excitement and the glory of ancient Greece in the words of the ancient Greek themselves." His script will draw heavily upon the writings of Homer, Thucydides, Herodotus, Plato, Pindar and other major figures of the great age.

Humphrey Bogart Series Subject

Humphrey Bogart once was Hollywood's most proficient master at delivering farewell addresses by mortally wounded triggermen in B pictures.

This interesting segment from the life of an actor who fought his way up to recognition as a great actor by winning an Academy Award and other honors is uncovered in television's first-in-depth study of Bogart on the premiere program of the "Hollywood and the Stars" series. The opening half-hour show, "The Man Called Bogart," will be presented over NBC-TV on September 30. This will kick off a season of 40 weekly programs.

The Bogart subject reveals that the actor was one of many young players brought from the stage in the early 30's while Hollywood was in the midst of the transition to sound pictures. But dreary roles in nearly a dozen minor epics caused Bogart to be considered a flop. When one studio after another wrote him off as just another mediocre actor without box office appeal, Bogart returned to New York where he finally landed a colorful role in the hit play, "The Petrified Forest."

When a studio bought film rights to the play, Leslie Howard, the play's star, refused to appear in the picture unless Bogart played the role of Duke Mantee.

Realizing this role marked his last chance for success in movies, Bogart performed with a vengeance and became a sensation.

In 1941, he proved himself a talented actor by breathing fire into the role of Sam Spade, the cynical and amoral private eye in "The Maltese Falcon."

As David L. Wolper, executive producer of the series, says, "Bogart had a quality that everybody liked. He appealed to both men and women. We discovered that in real life he also was much like the roles he played on the screen."

Pick Top Cast For Ibsen Play

Even the minor characters in Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" will be played by major actors, all with the exception of Ingrid Bergman, leading stars of the London stage.

Cast in the CBS special, to be seen Friday from 9:30 to 11 p. m., are Sir Michael Redgrave, Sir Ralph Richardson, Trevor Howard, Dilys Hamlett, Ursula Jeans and Beatrice Varley.

Miss Bergman is the only member of the cast never to have worked with any of the others before.

Laugh Line

To the question "Where were you educated?" Selma Diamond (comedianne on NBC's "Monitor" and writer for Sid Caesar's new ABC show) gave a flat answer, "at a college in the United States, period." Explaining that was the limit of what she's going to divulge Selma says, "I don't want to be invited to any class reunions. Who needs to go into a room where a whole bunch of women know your age?"

DANGEROUS ROLES — Harry Guardino and Joan Freeman engage in exciting roles as animal trainers when they guest star with Jack Palance in "Lion on Fire," the premiere segment of Desilu's new one-hour color series, "The Greatest Show on Earth." The program airs on Tuesday, September 17 at 9 to 10 p. m. over ABC-TV network.

Trevor Howard To Narrate 'Greece: The Golden Age'

Trevor Howard, one of England's most distinguished film stars, will be narrator of "Greece: The Golden Age," the full-hour NBC News special to be presented in color on the NBC-TV Network Tuesday, November 5 (9-10 p. m. EST).

Lou Hazam, the program's producer and writer, announced the engagement of Howard. He said the actor will fly to New York from England later this week expressly to record the off-camera narration.

Though he has been an infrequent participant in American television, Howard won an Emmy Award in May from the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for the "outstanding single performance by an actor in a leading role." It was for his portrayal of the title role in "The Invincible Mr. Disraeli" on the NBC-TV "Hallmark Hall of Fame" April 4, 1963.

Howard has drawn widespread critical acclaim for his recent film portrayal as Captain Bligh in "Mutiny On the Bounty." Some of his many other motion picture hits were "Brief Encounter," "The Third Man," "The Heart of the Matter" and "Sons and Lovers."

Hazam's task force has been filming "Greece: The Golden Age" on location in Athens, Olympia, Delphi, Epidaurus, and the Greek off-shore islands. With the techniques he developed in "The Way of the Cross" and "Vincent Van Gogh: A Self-Portrait," Hazam hopes to "bring to life again the beauty, the thought, the excitement and the glory of ancient Greece in the words of the ancient Greek themselves." His script will draw heavily upon the writings of Homer, Thucydides, Herodotus, Plato, Pindar and other major figures of the great age.

Humphrey Bogart Series Subject

Humphrey Bogart once was Hollywood's most proficient master at delivering farewell addresses by mortally wounded triggermen in B pictures.

This interesting segment from the life of an actor who fought his way up to recognition as a great actor by winning an Academy Award and other honors is uncovered in television's first-in-depth study of Bogart on the premiere program of the "Hollywood and the Stars" series. The opening half-hour show, "The Man Called Bogart," will be presented over NBC-TV on September 30. This will kick off a season of 40 weekly programs.

The Bogart subject reveals that the actor was one of many young players brought from the stage in the early 30's while Hollywood was in the midst of the transition to sound pictures. But dreary roles in nearly a dozen minor epics caused Bogart to be considered a flop. When one studio after another wrote him off as just another mediocre actor without box office appeal, Bogart returned to New York where he finally landed a colorful role in the hit play, "The Petrified Forest."

When a studio bought film rights to the play, Leslie Howard, the play's star, refused to appear in the picture unless Bogart played the role of Duke Mantee.

Realizing this role marked his last chance for success in movies, Bogart performed with a vengeance and became a sensation.

In 1941, he proved himself a talented actor by breathing fire into the role of Sam Spade, the cynical and amoral private eye in "The Maltese Falcon."

As David L. Wolper, executive producer of the series, says, "Bogart had a quality that everybody liked. He appealed to both men and women. We discovered that in real life he also was much like the roles he played on the screen."

Senator Long Interview Set On Channel 5

Senator Russell Long (D-La.), famous member of a famous and controversial family, and one of the most influential members of the U. S. Senate, will be interviewed on Metropolitan Broadcasting's "Opinion In the Capital," Sunday, September 15, 8 to 8:30 p. m.

Though still, at 45, one of the youngest members of the Senate, Russell Long's 15 years of service in that body gives him seniority over 75 per cent of his colleagues.

His areas of legislative influence and experience cover the fields of foreign relations and finance. He is second ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee as well as on the Select Committee on Small Business and on the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation. Senator Long is also sixth ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee and Chairman of the latter's Subcommittee on Economic and Social Policy Affairs.

Senator Long cast the only dissenting vote against the ratification of the nuclear test ban treaty in the Foreign Relations Committee, and is expected to oppose the Administration's Civil Rights proposals. On the other hand, he is a strong supporter of President Kennedy's tax reform bill and is expected to lead the fight for its passage in the Senate.

Joan Crawford, Gobel On Paar Guest List

Joan Crawford, Nat King Cole and George Gobel will be guests on "The Jack Paar Program" Friday, Oct. 4 (NBC-TV color broadcast, 10-11 p. m. EDT). It will be a first appearance on the Paar prime-time Friday series for both Miss Crawford and Gobel. Cole had two dates on the series in the past season.

Edie Joins Sid

Edie Adams and Sid Caesar have joined forces to do a one-hour comedy and music special next Thursday, 10 to 11 p. m., on the ABC-TV network to introduce their separate new series this fall.

'Exceptional' Children Show Slated Sunday

"Reflections of Hope," a story of hope and progress for mentally retarded children, will be presented on WRC-TV Sunday, September 15, 12:00-12:30 p. m., in color.

Bob Wright, host-moderator, takes viewers to the Otis Art Institute of Los Angeles, where a recent exhibition was held displaying the creations of mentally retarded children. According to the Institute's director, Andreas Anderson, the children showed an amazing ability in art, and their works were more than merely therapeutic handicraft. Also visited in the documentary are special classes conducted by the Exceptional Children's Foundation, where three teachers discuss their experiences and qualifications necessary to teach mentally retarded children.

WRC-TV Will Telecast 'The Saint' September 21

Leslie Charteris' "The Saint," one of the most romantic and popular characters in twentieth century fiction, comes to WRC-TV in a brand-new, one-hour adventure series, starring Roger Moore in the title role as the action-seeking Simon Templar. The series premieres on Channel 4 Saturday, September 21, 12:45-1:45 a. m., following WRC-TV's "Movie Four Saturday."

Swimming Around The Channels

Friends of the late Larry Keating take some comfort in the fact that despite leukemia he was able to work at his Roger Addison role in "Mister Ed" almost to the last. He had previously played Harry Morton on the Burns and Allen Show.

NBC presented a repeat showing of its remarkable documentary, "The Kremlin," just two weeks after the first showing, which is some sort of record. Let's hope there will soon be a third telecast for any who may have missed the program that TV critic Harriett Van Horne described as "an experience none of us is likely to forget, steeped in history, grandeur, piety and horror."

Viewers in the U. S., accustomed to programs that break on the hour and half-hour find the irregular schedules of some of the educational channels confusing.

NBC's Rome newsman Irving R. Levine says this would cause no stir in Italy though because "a television program in Italy may run 18 minutes or 47 minutes or an hour and nine minutes."

They're kidding Woody Woodbury about working with the "mouse pack" for his recent Hollywood starring spot as a college town entertainer. Reason? Such "Rat Pack" offspring as Nancy Sinatra and Claudia Martin (daughters of Frank and Dean respectively) are also in the cast.

Hate to dust? Pity Edna Skinner of "Mister Ed" . . . she collects sea shells . . . recently exhibited 1,400 of the best.

ABC-TV "Outer Limits" exceeds good old Dr. Jekyll in dual role demands according to Sidney Blackmer who's just finished portraying both President of the United States and an oriental assassin in a single episode.

Senator Long Interview Set On Channel 5

Senator Russell Long (D-La.), famous member of a famous and controversial family, and one of the most influential members of the U. S. Senate, will be interviewed on Metropolitan Broadcasting's "Opinion In the Capital," Sunday, September 15, 8 to 8:30 p. m.

Though still, at 45, one of the youngest members of the Senate, Russell Long's 15 years of service in that body gives him seniority over 75 per cent of his colleagues.

His areas of legislative influence and experience cover the fields of foreign relations and finance. He is second ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee as well as on the Select Committee on Small Business and on the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation. Senator Long is also sixth ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee and Chairman of the latter's Subcommittee on Economic and Social Policy Affairs.

Senator Long cast the only dissenting vote against the ratification of the nuclear test ban treaty in the Foreign Relations Committee, and is expected to oppose the Administration's Civil Rights proposals. On the other hand, he is a strong supporter of President Kennedy's tax reform bill and is expected to lead the fight for its passage in the Senate.

'Exceptional' Children Show Slated Sunday

"Reflections of Hope," a story of hope and progress for mentally retarded children, will be presented on WRC-TV Sunday, September 15, 12:00-12:30 p. m., in color.

Bob Wright, host-moderator, takes viewers to the Otis Art Institute of Los Angeles, where a recent exhibition was held displaying the creations of mentally retarded children. According to the Institute's director, Andreas Anderson, the children showed an amazing ability in art, and their works were more than merely therapeutic handicraft. Also visited in the documentary are special classes conducted by the Exceptional Children's Foundation, where three teachers discuss their experiences and qualifications necessary to teach mentally retarded children.

Joan Crawford, Gobel On Paar Guest List

Joan Crawford, Nat King Cole and George Gobel will be guests on "The Jack Paar Program" Friday, Oct. 4 (NBC-TV color broadcast, 10-11 p. m. EDT).

It will be a first appearance on the Paar prime-time Friday series for both Miss Crawford and Gobel. Cole had two dates on the series in the past season.

Edie Joins Sid

Edie Adams and Sid Caesar have joined forces to do a one-hour comedy and music special next Thursday, 10 to 11 p. m., on the ABC-TV network to introduce their separate new series this fall.

Swimming Around The Channels

Friends of the late Larry Keating take some comfort in the fact that despite leukemia he was able to work at his Roger Addison role in "Mister Ed" almost to the last. He had previously played Harry Morton on the Burns and Allen Show.

NBC presented a repeat showing of its remarkable documentary, "The Kremlin," just two weeks after the first showing, which is some sort of record. Let's hope there will soon be a third telecast for any who may have missed the program that TV critic Harriett Van Horne described as "an experience none of us is likely to forget, steeped in history, grandeur, piety and horror."

Viewers in the U. S., accustomed to programs that break on the hour and half-hour find the irregular schedules of some of the educational channels confusing.

NBC's Rome newsman Irving R. Levine says this would cause no stir in Italy though because "a television program in Italy may run 18 minutes or 47 minutes or an hour and nine minutes."

They're kidding Woody Woodbury about working with the "mouse pack" for his recent Hollywood starring spot as a college town entertainer. Reason? Such "Rat Pack" offspring as Nancy Sinatra and Claudia Martin (daughters of Frank and Dean respectively) are also in the cast.

Hate to dust? Pity Edna Skinner of "Mister Ed" . . . she collects sea shells . . . recently exhibited 1,400 of the best.

ABC-TV "Outer Limits" exceeds good old Dr. Jekyll in dual role demands according to Sidney Blackmer who's just finished portraying both President of the United States and an oriental assassin in a single episode.

CUMBERLAND NEWS, CUMBERLAND,

FROM OUR OLD FAMILY ALBUM...

What nostalgic memories this picture brings. Every Sunday morning we used to drive to Church in Pop's old "fivver," picking up the Parson on the way.

Today I live in a great city. I ride commuter's trains, and dictate letters, and spend endless hours "in conference."

But I've never forgotten our Church in the field. It plowed deep furrows in my life, and planted the seeds of real happiness.

Now I worship in a big city church. You might think it would be different; but it isn't. Folks are just as friendly. The Truth is just the same. And God is just as close.

You see, in the country or in the city, Christians are conscientious people trying to be better. And for folks like you and me who worship God, the Church—big or little—is home.

Hymn Of The Month

HUDSON, Ohio (AP) — The "hymn of the month" is the Rev. Forrest York's method of acquainting members of Hudson Congregational Church with unfamiliar hymns.

It's played the first week as an organ prelude, next as an offertory, sung by the choir the third week, the following Sunday the congregation sings it.

Children's Version

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is this embarrassing and expensive there any polite way to tell a problem. — BAFFLED BINNIE

DEAR BINNIE: You can't send a woman who weighs 240 pounds how to sit down in a chair? friend a bill for damage done unintentionally in your home. It would be nice, however, if the friend offered to pay.

Since she does not offer, your best bet is to lead her by the arm to the chair which can best hold her. And don't let her loose until she has parked herself.

Dear Readers: Every once in a while I receive a letter that I can print without changing a single word or dropping so much as a comma. I received such a letter today and here it is:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is not a letter asking for help. There is no help for me and I know it. My letter is a simple plea to the parents of teenagers to please consider what their excessive drinking does to their children.

My father is an alcoholic. If he only knew how many times he has made me ashamed to be his daughter. If he only knew the times my girl friends have come over and seen him dead drunk—and how I shudder when boys

Served Aboard Ship

John A. Wiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wiley, Jane Frazier Village, recently completed two weeks of active duty training aboard the destroyer escort USS Roberts participating in tactical exercises conducted in the Atlantic.

Equity Suit Filed

Gilbert F. Gartlitz yesterday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Julia E. Gartlitz.

come to take me out and I must rush to meet them on the front steps so they won't get inside the house.

I hate to come home because I never know what I find here. My father is downstairs now, sick as a dog, but tomorrow night he will go out and do the same thing over again.

I beg of parents, please stop hurting us kids. — I USED TO LOVE HIM

Dear Friend: There is help for you if you will reach out for it. Children of alcoholics have found comfort, useful information and guidance through A-1-Ateen. Write to The A-1-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., Post Office Box No. 182, Madison Square Station, New York 10 N. Y.

Governor Lauds

Grand treasurer — Irvin Wasserman of Baltimore Lodge 152. Supreme representative — B. Z. Hardin of Gaithersburg Lodge 123; J. Walter McKee of Cumberland Lodge 60, and Otto B. Chessman, Cambridge Lodge 154. Grand Lodge Council — J. Walter McKee, Cumberland, nuncubent, and Charles Ross, Smithburg.

Board of directors — Frank J. Davis Sr., Cumberland Lodge 136, and Bernie Harman, Westminster Lodge 58.

Installation Set

The new officers will be elected this afternoon and will be installed this evening at a joint ceremony with officers of the Grand Temple, Pythian Sisters of Maryland.

Joseph B. Hacker, Chattanooga, Tenn., supreme representative, was the principal speaker at the morning session, bringing greetings of national officials of the order.

By unanimous resolution, the convention was dedicated to Odith M. Brotemarkle, a past supreme representative, who died here March 14, and to David Harris, past supreme representative, a member of Baltimore Lodge 152. Mr. Harding reported the grand lodge collected $1,000 for the Cystic Fibrosis Fund, and Charles Ross, Smithburg, noted that $300 has been raised for the support of the mentally retarded children's home in Smithburg.

New Boss For
The Post Office

After some understandable difficulty, President Kennedy has found a replacement for J. Edward Day. He has nominated John Gronouski as Postmaster General. Why Mr. Gronouski should be willing to exchange the job of Wisconsin tax commissioner for one of the least rewarding of Cabinet posts only he knows.

There was a time when the Postmaster General was a powerful official, the chief dispenser of federal patronage. This role diminished as civil service spread its tenurial wings over the federal bureaucracy and, in recent administrations, distribution of remaining rewards available to the faithful has been assigned to others.

What the Postmaster General has left is a palatial office and responsibility for a service that despite criticism, some of it merited, is better than its reputation.

In its periodical attempts to reduce its deficits it has been accused of charging more for less. Its adoption of automated processes and the modern magic of numbers, in an effort to keep abreast of an ever-mounting volume of business, has won little applause and much ridicule.

Through every administration it seems fated to remain everybody's favorite example of the inefficiency of government. Struggling with its intractable problems, Mr. Day must have wondered often why he ever left his insurance company vice presidency, and just as surely Mr. Gronouski will often wonder why he left Madison.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Amity On The Eastern Front

HARTFORD, Conn. — The Hartford branch of the Connecticut Citizens Committee has just completed a "citizens workshop" here at the Statler-Hilton Hotel as these lines are written, and what was amazing about it was the amity and non-partisan enthusiasm expressed on all sides.

To appreciate the high good humor of the occasion, one has to know something about past discords in Connecticut Republican politics. The Connecticut Republican Citizens Committee is the child of John Lupton, a defeated Republican candidate for Congressman-at-large who is widely considered a dyed-in-the-wool Goldwater man. When Lupton started his committee, he said it was conceived as a non-personal "service" organization to carry "the Republican story" into the big Democratic city strongholds by enlisting both missionary money and doorbell-ringing manpower from outside the downtown city wards. The idea was to preach Republicanism as such, and to support without bickering any and all candidates whom the party might choose to select.

Nobody in "liberal" Republican circles believed Lupton at first. Yet there, at the speaker's table, as ex-Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota rose to address more than a thousand eager volunteer workers, sat all the high muck-a-mucks of Connecticut Republicanism who have opposed Lupton in the past. Presumably they would prefer any other candidate for President to Barry Goldwater. There, at the table, were John Lodge, ex-Governor of the State; John Alsop, ex-candidate for Governor; Republican State Chairman Searle Pinney; and ex-Congressman H. Seelye-Brown, who was defeated last autumn by Democrat Abe Ribicoff in a run for the U.S. Senate. None of these men is a conservative as local Republicans rate conservatism.

What has produced the good humor between the factions? Does real sweetness and light prevail in Connecticut Republicanism, which can be taken as a microcosmic symbol of eastern Republicanism in general? Does the platform proximity of John Lupton, the reputed Goldwaterite, and John Alsop, a man who could love a victorious Nelson Rockefeller, indicate that the right-left schism in the party is of little practical consequence?

Curiously enough, the meaning of the love fest is probably to be found in Nelson Rockefeller's recent pilgrimage to Illinois, where the New York governor spoke in conservative territory where Goldwater is popular. Rocky, faced with the need to propitiate the swelling Republican animus against "me-tooism," said nothing contentious in Illinois about the surrender of the party to "right radicalism." On the contrary, he went back to wooing the conservatives.

Presumably the Republicans are catching the pitch: they scent the possibility of victory by opposing the New Frontier not under the banner of "We can do it better," but by making a real fight for the "voluntary" and the "creative" society that is the antithesis of a society directed from a central political conning tower. This does not mean the quick death of the Welfare State if the Republicans should win. But it could mean that people would be permitted a 180-degree latitude of individual choice between such things as public and private old-age insurance, public and private schools (with tax remission or tax refund vouchers permitted for private school fees), and a free choice between public and private medicine if it ever comes to a federal medical program.

In human terms, the presence of Lupton men and Alsop and Pinney men at the same table probably means that no one in traditionally "liberal" Republican Connecticut, which is very much like any eastern state where "liberal" Republicans have usually had the nod, wants to commit himself against Goldwater as of the moment. The mandate for some sort of conservatism is recognized.

A majority of Connecticut Republicans would surely go for Rockefeller if it should appear that Rocky could get the nomination. But to succeed in pulling his chestnuts out of the fire Rocky has some conservative fence-mending to do. With Rockefeller fortunes at a low ebb, and with a Goldwater breakthrough threatening to move east from the South and West, the tendency in Connecticut is to sit tight and wait. No popular alternative to Goldwater has appeared on the scene. So why be quixotic in opposing the candidacy of Goldwater—just yet?

The "amity" in Connecticut and in other eastern states will probably continue until the New Hampshire primary. If Rockefeller can stage a comeback in New Hampshire, where "liberalism" must be tempered with conservatism to win, the contest for delegates would destroy the eastern Republican calm. But if New Hampshire should go for Goldwater, he can have "amity" behind him practically everywhere.

The Lunatic Compromise: Uneasy Balance

By Joseph Alsop

VIENTIANE, Laos. For the present the affairs of this charming but endlessly troubled little country are governed by a lunatic compromise, half-way between partition and neutralization.

You would say partition straight out if it were not for the map. The map, showing the probable location of the six main kinds of military forces now operating in Laos, looks like nothing so much as an attack of measles in six different colors.

In order of their current importance, these forces are: first, the anti-Communist army of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, numbering just under 60,000; second, the 25,000 plus of the indigenous Communist Pathet Lao; third, the 7,000 or so neutralists under Gen. Kong Le; fourth, the armed Meo tribesmen, who are also anti-Communist; fifth, the seven or eight North Vietnamese Communist battalions which have remained in Laos in violation of the Geneva agreement; and sixth and finally, about a thousand Chinese Communist troops disguised as "roadbuilders," also here in violation of the Geneva accord.

These multitudinous forces are partly localized, to be sure. The anti-Communist army holds the crucial Mekong valley, for instance, whereas the North Vietnamese are mostly on the line of the infiltration route into South Viet Nam, and the Chinese "roadbuilders" are all in Phong Saly province, on the Chinese border.

But this localization is very incomplete, to put it mildly. Every outfit has its men behind the lines of almost every other outfit. The Meos, the neutralists, and the anti-Communists are now co-operating, but the Chinese alone are to be found in only one spot. All the other forces make an interpenetrating pattern of spots almost past counting.

If this were anywhere but Laos, you would therefore predict a kind of general donnybrook at an early date. In fact, comparative peace now reigns. In the last season, the Communists tried to destroy the neutralists and failed. They had a whack at the anti-Communists and were beaten off. They attempted to liquidate the Meos with no success. And after these additional flagrant violations of the Geneva accord, they sat back to lick their wounds.

As of today, indeed, the Communist position is at least marginally weaker than the position of the Meo-neutralist-anti-Communist coalition. The road from Viet Nam, which brings supplies to the main Pathet Lao forces in the Plaine des Jarres, has been cut for a long time, and they are even short of rice. If the neutralist Prime Minister, Prince Souvanna Phouma, would give the order, the neutralists and anti-Communists could probably clear the Plaine des Jarres of all Pathet Lao forces.

POSTPONED — Right after President Kennedy returned from his European tour early this summer he and his top aides starting making plans for another foreign tour — this time to the Orient.

Kennedy wanted to go to Japan and to several other Far Eastern countries where his presence would help improve the American "image" at a time they face a mounting threat of communist encroachment.

But the whole idea has had to be put on ice for the time being, anyway, and there's a chance now that foreseeable events will wash out the trip altogether. The main cause for the postponement is the seemingly endless session of Congress.

Kennedy and his advisers fear he would be subjected to severe criticism if he should leave Washington for an extended tour at this time while Congress is forced by circumstances partly of his own making to keep its nose to the grindstone. The White House is sensitive to ill feelings of the legislators toward the President, and it does not want to aggravate the situation, even though there is every justification for making an Oriental swing.

PHONE BOOTH DECOR — The telephone company always has been a great one for public relations. Its newest gimmick is to place unusual and decorative street telephone booths in some cities. Washington is a beneficiary.

The newest thing in phone booths has a pagoda roof. It was placed in Washington's Chinatown at the request of some residents there. Keeps the booth from clashing with the Oriental-appearing Chinese restaurant and novelty store fronts.

Another booth, this one modernistically fancy, will be placed near one of Washington's swankiest hotels. The booth has eight sides, but no door. Despite its lack of doors, it has been sound-proofed, and so constructed as to minimize the interference of outside noises.

Undoubtedly, the resourceful telephone company will come up with other designs for booths which will blend into or accentuate their surroundings. We can immediately visualize one to be placed at strategic points in suburbia, for husbands who have somehow irritated their wives. It would look like a dog house.

Tot's Temper Tantrums Stem From Frustrations

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Temper tantrums are common in normal pre-school children and, in most instances, can be ignored safely. They stem from frustration, sibling jealousy, or lack of ability to adapt to the situation at hand. These eruptions disappear when the child's personality matures.

The scene is familiar: A red-faced, screaming, kicking, or head-banging tyke performing—all too often—in public. Possibly wants something "right now" and goes into a tantrum when mother says "No" or pulls him away from the desired object.

These outbursts will recur so long as the young man remains intolerant to frustration. And this may continue for some time because boys and girls are faced with many frustrating experiences in the process of growing up. The sooner they learn that living with others is a matter of give and take, the sooner the pattern will change.

The trick is to detect the stimuli that trigger the tantrum. This may take time if the reasons are subtle. A boy who is jealous of his baby brother may have a bout only when embarrassed or frustrated about a situation dealing with the younger child. Others get mad because they cannot perform or get the same results as their older brothers. This conflict is aggravated when mother or father makes inadvertent comparisons between the lads. This should be avoided.

Outside help may be needed if the parents are too confused to see the picture clearly. In some instances, they nag too much, insisting upon standards of behavior or discipline that fit one set of circumstances but not others. They are not consistent and will give in to prevent a scene in front of others but when alone.

Still other parents do not understand the child's personality. Some boys and girls over-react to the normal frustrations of life, even though otherwise normal. Others are placid and raise Cain only when a big problem cannot be solved. Now and then, tantrums indicate serious psychological disturbances.

Diem Acted Like Mandarin During Visit By Three American Senators

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When Sen. Frank Church, the young Idaho Democrat, put the State Department on the spot at a closed-door hearing regarding its vacillating policy toward South Vietnam, he knew first hand what he was talking about.

Church made a memorable trip to Saigon one year ago with Senators Gale McGee, Wyo., and Ted Moss, Utah, also Democrats. They arrived in Saigon one day early. If they had arrived on time they would not have seen so much.

But arriving as they did, they were shunted to one side by the police to make way for President Diem.

"The entire population was pushed to one side," Church reported to other Senators, "some of them had to retreat half a block back from the main street."

"Then a motorcycle escort came charging down the street at sixty miles an hour in front of the President. I have seldom seen so many troops lining a street. In ten minutes Diem got through the heart of the city—a trip which should have taken thirty minutes. That is how he deals with his citizens."

Later, the three Senators found that the President of South Vietnam treated U. S. Senators with almost equal contempt even though these Senators have to vote the millions of foreign aid which pay for Diem's troops, his motorcycles and his limousine. Diem gave the three Senators a thirty-minute audience during which he lectured for thirty minutes. It was a monologue. They were not permitted to ask questions. At the conclusion, Ambassador Frederick Nolting was permitted to ask one question. That was all.

During an American embassy party, Sen. Church told guests about the wild ride through the center of the city.

"Oh," remarked one U. S. diplomat, "that's the way of life around here."

Curbing A Mandarin

The same Sen. Church was listening to the testimony of Assistant Secretary of State Roger Hilsman before a closed door meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Far Eastern Affairs. Hilsman gave rather a placid explanation of the State Department predicament in South Vietnam.

When he finished Church asked in acid tones:

"What are you going to do about this Mandarin? There has been nothing like him since the Borgias."

"This self-immolation by Buddhist priests has shocked the entire Christian world. No matter how we may look at it here, it puts us on the side of religious repression, a position which I know is not that of the American people."

At this, Assistant Secretary Hilsman lost his composure. "I agree," he interrupted. He even agreed that it might be a good thing for the Senate to adopt a resolution threatening to cut off aid to President Diem and his high-handed brother and sister-in-law.

Sen. Church has now done so. One of the first to join him was Sen. Frank Carlson, Kansas Republican, who also was shocked at the high-handed operations of the Diem family and asked some tough questions of Assistant Secretary Hilsman.

A Catholic View

A completely opposite view of South Vietnam and the persecution of Buddhist priests by the Catholic Diem family has been expressed in the Catholic News, organ of the Archdiocese of Cardinal Spellman of New York. It was Cardinal Spellman, who arrived in Saigon on January 5, 1955, to help Catholic refugees from North Vietnam and who has been a strong proponent of U. S. aid to this area. The United States gave $28,571,428 for these refugees on December 21, 1954.

According to Father Patrick O'Connor, Far Eastern correspondent for National Catholic Welfare Conference News Service, "Buddhists in South Vietnam have been selling the American people a bill of goods. They sold it first to some of the foreign correspondents in Saigon."

"They have represented themselves as undergoing religious persecution. They have been depicted around the world as suffering from a host of restrictions on their religious worship. They are described as comprising sometimes 70 per cent of the population persecuted by a 'Catholic minority government'."

On the other hand, "Vietnam has impressed me as a country of religious tolerance," Ambassador Nolting is quoted as saying to the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

Bishop Peter Carretto of Thailand is also quoted by the Catholic News that "U. S. newspapers give a slanted view" of events in Vietnam. He described charges that President Diem is trying to suppress Buddhism as "absurd."

A sympathetic view of the Buddhists' reported plight has been taken by Pope Paul, who recently avoided seeing President Diem's brother, Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thuc. When Archbishop Thuc called at the Vatican, issuing derogatory statements against the Buddhists, he was promptly ordered not to talk about conditions in Vietnam. He left for New York without seeing the Pope.

PARIS A bunch of the boys were whooping it up in the back room of the old histeria, discussing the grave issues of our time.

"British Equity, the actors' union, you know," said old Ned, a spade-bearded fellow, "has barred Christine Keeler. It's not a moral judgment. That's what they said."

Another guy spoke up. "A damn good thing, too. It would be very unfair to let the prostitutes into the acting profession right at the top when the real hard-working girls" (here he paused to snicker knowingly) "made it on talent alone."

"If British Equity had been around, Nell Gwynn would never have got past the front door. She used to go around boasting she was the king's mistress," said somebody.

"I don't believe she boasted about it," said old Ned. "She was simply clarifying her position. Values were simpler then." "It is not a moral judgment," a guy was reading the newspaper aloud. "The private life of an individual person is of no concern to Equity unless it affects us professionally."

"Sound thinking," said old Ned. "If a union passed moral judgments, the writers' union would have to throw out half its members from Chris Marlowe to Baudelaire, the actors' union would have to throw out about 80 per cent of its most talented members. And the teamsters' local would have to toss out its entire enforcement arm. A union should never pass moral judgments and when it does it should at all costs insist that it's doing something else."

The guy read on: "The executive committee felt that it was being asked to condone or indeed to facilitate the making of a film, the result of which would be the commercial exploitation of a public scandal."

"That would be damned unfair to all the films that have to make it without the assistance of all that sordid publicity. 'Cleopatra,' for instance," said old Ned.

There was a moment's pause. Then old Bairnsfeather, who is a bit of a nut anyhow, said: "I do believe I did hear some whispers about 'Cleopatra.' There was some talk about one of the actresses in it and one of the actors, both of them married." "Nothing to it," said old Ned. "There are always these rumors about film stars."

Old Bairnsfeather puffed away at his pipe a moment and then added: "Of course, you might say that Shakespeare was commercially exploiting a public scandal when he wrote 'Antony and Cleopatra' and George Bernard Shaw was too when he wrote 'Caesar and Cleopatra.' Pretty gamey stuff—the original Cleopatra."

"Entirely different," said old Ned. "Girl's been dead a long time."

"When you come right down to it," said old Bairnsfeather, "most of literature is simply the commercial exploitation of public scandals. You'd have to throw out most of Shakespeare—'Richard II,' 'Richard III,' 'Henry IV'—both parts—'Macbeth,' 'King Lear'—all commercial exploitations of crying public scandals. Or you can go further back than that. This fellow who ran off with somebody else's wife and caused the Trojan War. This fellow Homer commercially exploited the hell out of that with those two books—'The Odyssey' and 'The Iliad.'"

"If British Equity had been around," said old Ned, "he'd never have been allowed to get away with it. Or anyway, he couldn't have used the original cast."

Old Ned huffed and puffed a bit, then added: "This girl's a rank amateur. She shouldn't be permitted in among the professionals just because she got her name in the papers."

"I suppose not," said old Bairnsfeather. "But if the actors are going to bar everyone who broke into the profession simply because they got their names in the paper, that would rule out Audie Murphy, who became a film star because he was a war hero, or Mickey Spillane, who was a famous author, or Esther Williams and Eleanor Holm, who were Olympic swimming stars, or Joseph Welch, who happened to appear as a lawyer for the Army in the McCarthy hearings, or

"Anyone for a game of darts?" said old Ned, putting a punctuation mark on the discussion. Time some fellow, old Bairnsfeather. No sense of moral values at all.

New Boss For The Post Office

After some understandable difficulty, President Kennedy has found a replacement for J. Edward Day. He has nominated John Gronouski as Postmaster General. Why Mr. Gronouski should be willing to exchange the job of Wisconsin tax commissioner for one of the least rewarding of Cabinet posts only he knows.

There was a time when the Postmaster General was a powerful official, the chief dispenser of federal patronage. This role diminished as civil service spread its tentacles over the federal bureaucracy and, in recent administrations, distribution of remaining rewards available to the faithful has been assigned to others.

What the Postmaster General has left is a palatial office and responsibility for a service that despite criticism, some of it merited, is better than its reputation.

In its periodical attempts to reduce its deficits it has been accused of charging more for less. Its adoption of automated processes and the modern magic of numbers, in an effort to keep abreast of an ever-mounting volume of business, has won little applause and much ridicule.

Through every administration it seems fated to remain everybody's favorite example of the inefficiency of government. Struggling with its intractable problems, Mr. Day must have wondered often why he ever left his insurance company vice presidency, and just as surely Mr. Gronouski will often wonder why he left Madison.

Amity On The Eastern Front

HARTFORD, Conn. — The Hartford branch of the Connecticut Republicans Citizens Committee has just completed a "citizens workshop" here at the Statler-Hilton Hotel as these lines are written, and what was amazing about it was the amity and non-partisan enthusiasm expressed on all sides.

To appreciate the high good humor of the occasion, one has to know something about past discords in Connecticut Republican politics. The Connecticut Republican Citizens Committee is the child of John Lupton, a defeated Republican candidate for Congressman-at-large who is widely considered a dyed-in-the-wool Goldwater man. When Lupton started his committee, he said it was conceived as a non-personal "service" organization to carry "the Republican story" into the big Democratic city strongholds by enlisting both missionary money and doorbell-ringing manpower from outside the downtown city wards. The idea was to preach Republicanism as such, and to support without bickering any and all candidates whom the party might choose to select.

Nobody in "liberal" Republican circles believed Lupton at first. Yet there, at the speaker's table, as ex-Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota rose to address more than a thousand eager volunteer workers, sat all the high muck-a-mucks of Connecticut Republicanism who have opposed Lupton in the past. Presumably they would prefer any other candidate for President to Barry Goldwater. There, at the table, were John Lodge, ex-Governor of the State; John Alsop, ex-candidate for Governor; Republican State Chairman Searle Pinney; and ex-Congressman H. Seelye-Brown, who was defeated last autumn by Democrat Abe Ribicoff in a run for the U.S. Senate. None of these men is a conservative as local Republicans rate conservatism.

What has produced the good humor between the factions? Does real sweetness and light prevail in Connecticut Republicanism, which can be taken as a microcosmic symbol of eastern Republicanism in general? Does the platform proximity of John Lupton, the reputed Goldwaterite, and John Alsop, a man who could love a victorious Nelson Rockefeller, indicate that the right-left schism in the party is of little practical consequence?

Curiously enough, the meaning of the love fest is probably to be found in Nelson Rockefeller's recent pilgrimage to Illinois, where the New York governor spoke in conservative territory where Goldwater is popular. Rocky, faced with the need to propitiate the swelling Republican animus against "me-tooism," said nothing contentious in Illinois about the surrender of the party to "right radicalism." On the contrary, he went back to wooing the conservatives.

Presumably the Republicans are catching the pitch: they scent the possibility of victory by opposing the New Frontier not under the banner of "we can do it better," but by making a real fight for the "voluntary" and the "creative" society that is the antithesis of a society directed from a central political conning tower. This does not mean the quick death of the Welfare State if the Republicans should win. But it could mean that people would be permitted a 180-degree latitude of individual choice between such things as public and private old-age insurance, public and private schools (with tax remission or tax refund vouchers permitted for private school fees), and a free choice between public and private medicine if it ever comes to a federal medical program.

In human terms, the presence of Lupton men and Alsop and Pinney men at the same table probably means that no one in traditionally "liberal" Republican Connecticut, which is very much like any eastern state where "liberal" Republicans have usually had the nod, wants to commit himself against Goldwater as of the moment. The mandate for some sort of conservatism is recognized.

A majority of Connecticut Republicans would surely go for Rockefeller if it should appear that Rocky could get the nomination. But to succeed in pulling his chestnuts out of the fire Rocky has some conservative fence-mending to do. With Rockefeller fortunes at a low ebb, and with a Goldwater breakthrough threatening to move east from the South and West, the tendency in Connecticut is to sit tight and wait. No popular alternative to Goldwater has appeared on the scene. So why be quixotic in opposing the candidacy of Goldwater—just yet?

The "amity" in Connecticut and in other eastern states will probably continue until the New Hampshire primary. If Rockefeller can stage a comeback in New Hampshire, where "liberalism" must be tempered with conservatism to win, the contest for delegates would destroy the eastern Republican calm. But if New Hampshire should go for Goldwater, he can have "amity" behind him practically everywhere.

actors, both of them married."

"Nothing to it," said old Ned. "There are always these rumors about film stars."

Old Bainsfeather puffed away at his pipe a moment and then added: "Of course, you might say that Shakespeare was commercially exploiting a public scandal when he wrote 'Antony and Cleopatra' and George Bernard Shaw was too when he wrote 'Caesar and Cleopatra.' Pretty gamey stuff—the original Cleopatra."

"Entirely different," said old Ned. "Girl's been dead a long time."

"When you come right down to it," said old Bainsfeather, "most of literature is simply the commercial exploitation of public scandals. You'd have to throw out most of Shakespeare—'Richard II,' 'Richard III,' 'Henry IV'—both parts—'Macbeth,' 'King Lear'—all commercial exploitations of crying public scandals. Or you can go further back than that. This fellow who ran off with somebody else's wife and caused the Trojan War. This fellow Homer commercially exploited the hell out of that with those two books—'The Odyssey' and 'The Iliad.'"

"If British Equity had been around," said old Ned, "he'd never have been allowed to get away with it. Or anyway, he couldn't have used the original cast."

Old Ned huffed and puffed a bit, then added: "This girl's a rank amateur. She shouldn't be permitted in among the professionals just because she got her name in the papers."

"I suppose not," said old Bainsfeather. "But if the actors are going to bar everyone who broke into the profession simply because they got their names in the paper, that would rule out Audie Murphy, who became a film star because he was a war hero, or Mickey Spillane, who was a famous author, or Esther Williams and Eleanor Holm, who were Olympic swimming stars, or Joseph Welch, who happened to appear as a lawyer for the Army in the McCarthy hearings, or

"Anyone for a game of darts?" said old Ned, putting a punctuation mark on the discussion. "Three some fellow, old Bainsfeather. No sense of moral values at all."

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

On Madison Avenue, a lady patient descended upon society dentist Pullman's office for the fifth time to command him to grind down her false teeth again. "I tell you they don't fit," she insisted. "Okay," said Dr. Pullman reluctantly. "I'll do it one last time. But by every test, they should fit your mouth perfectly as they are."

"Who said anything about my mouth?" snapped the lady. "They don't fit in the glass."

A sour-looking gent pushed his way into a roadside tavern, leading on a chain a huge, twelve-foot alligator. "Do you serve dames in this joint?" he demanded. "Certainly," said the proprietor. "Men—women—they're all welcome here, so long as they pay cash." "Good," said the sour-looking one. "Serve me a hamburger, and serve my alligator a dame."

Ingenious and persevering fellow.

BALDNESS PATTERN
A. T. writes: What is meant by male pattern baldness?
REPLY
This is the common type of badness that plagues many men. Some develop a bald spot on top of the head; others have a receding hairline on the forehead, a very wide part on the scalp, or a fringe of hair along the sides and neck. This pattern differs from the patchy type of baldness that occurs in alopecia areata or other scalp diseases.

REPLY
A variety of conditions, including infections, poisoning, cirrhosis from drinking, congestion from heart disease, and blood disorders such as leukemia.

WATER AND DROPSY
E. D. writes: Does drinking too much water cause dropsy in older persons?

REPLY
No, but it might hasten or aggravate dropsy if the individual has heart disease, cirrhosis of the liver, or poorly functioning kidneys.

Garrett Co. Registration Dates Cited

OAKLAND — The Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors has decided on a schedule of mobile registrations this month in order to give persons wishing to register and those desiring to reregister an opportunity to do so prior to the winter season.

Miss Julia Rowan, chief clerk and Democrat registrar, said any citizen wishing to change his party affiliation may do so during the mobile registration in any of the scheduled districts.

Closing date for the change of party affiliation is November 19. It will be possible also to take care of persons wishing to change their district voting place, if they have moved, or women who have changed their name since marriage.

The Maryland Election Laws require a woman to change her registration from her maiden name to her married name. Those wishing to change their address will be accommodated and those who will be 21 years of age prior to the next election may also register.

Following is the schedule for the mobile registration:

Wednesday, September 18, Friendsville fire hall, 3 to 7 p.m.; Thursday, September 19, Accident fire hall, 3:30 to 5 p.m.; Friday, September 20, Kitzmiller Community Building, 3 to 7 p.m.; Tuesday, September 24, Deer Park fire hall, 2 to 5 p.m.; Wednesday, September 25, Grantsville fire hall, 3 to 7 p.m.; and Friday, September 27, Johnson, at Roberson's Store, 2 to 7 p.m.

Barton Residents Asked To Use Water Sparingly

BARTON — Residents of this community are being asked to use the local water supply as sparingly as possible.

Mayor Poland requests that residents refrain from the use of water hoses and not to wash their cars as the water supply is coming from the wells only.

He said the water in the dam is being reserved for fire protection and is not being put into water lines here.

Charles Town Area Getting Gin Plant

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — A plant which would produce "John Brown" gin and vodka reportedly will be located on a tract of land along U. S. 340 near here.

Officials of the plant reportedly are leasing land and construction crews are expected to arrive next week.

A site at Harpers Ferry was being considered until citizens urged officials to locate elsewhere. Residents at Harpers Ferry objected to the plant because of its nature and possible sanitary problems.

Barton Personals

Miss Jennie Williams is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams.

Mrs. Rennie Dawson was treated at Memorial Hospital for a hand injury received in an accident at her home.

Frank Metz is a surgical patient in University Hospital. John W. Roberts III returned to his home in Lansdowne after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Griffith.

Mrs. Delberta Schramm is a patient in Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Lola Green returned to her home from Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Madeline Miller is able to be out after being confined to her home with a fractured ankle.

Girl Will Celebrate Birthday In Hospital

GRANTSVILLE — Gail Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Paul, will celebrate her second birthday September 22 at Children's Hospital, Baltimore.

The child has been a patient there for three months. She underwent two operations for a dislocated hip. Another operation is scheduled before her birthday.

Receives Air Force Award

S/Sgt. Donald L. Jewell, left, son of Mrs. Lucille Glass of Potomac Park, has been awarded the Air Force Commendation medal while serving at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe near Paris. The award was presented by General R. M. Lee, right, air deputy at the international headquarters. It cited his meritorious service while assigned as a special clerk with the 1020th Special Activities Squadron at Fort Myer, Va., from 1961 until he was reassigned to SHAPE last July. A 1954 graduate of Allegany High School Sergeant Jewell has been in the Air Force nine years.

Playhouse In Garrett Co. Is Planning 10th Season

OAKLAND — Members of the Board of Governors for the Garrett County Playhouse this week agreed that there would be a 10th season for the summer theatre, beginning next July.

This decision was made even though the 1963 season concluded with a loss of $1,800 but gained in capital assets.

Offsetting the loss was the installation of beams to enlarge the area, new seating, new dressing rooms and improvements to the snack bar.

Gene Yell, chairman of the Board, who is also director of the summer theatre, said he would return next year with eight shows.

Others who attended the board meeting include Mrs. Irvin Feld, Emmett L. Jones, Lewis R. Jones, Arthur Naylor Jr. and Mrs. Frank McDaniel. Absent were Willard L. Hawkins, Mrs. Gerald Iman and Mrs. Laura Kelly.

W.Va. Highway Death Toll 273

By United Press International
The deaths of two servicemen reported Friday boosted to 10 the number of road deaths occurring in West Virginia during the space of a few hours on rain-slick highways Thursday night.

Robert Zigler, 22, Parkersburg, and John Deegan of Lakewood, Ohio, died when their car collided with a mail truck on U. S. 50 near Pennsboro, Ritchie County.

Two other occupants of the car, David Spicer, 20, Marietta, Ohio, and James Tenkman, 21, St. Bernard, Ohio, were injured. The mail truck driver, John Shuman, Parkersburg, was not seriously injured.

In the other Thursday accidents previously reported, a Pt. Pleasant woman, her year-old daughter and five-year-old son were killed in a two-car collision on U. S. 21 north of Charleston, and a five-year-old Wellsburg girl was fatally injured when struck by a car near her home.

The deaths boosted the state's road toll for the year to date to 273, compared with 297 at this time a year ago.

Services Planned At Midlothian

FROSTBURG — Eddie Wilson of Titusville, Fla., will begin 10 days of services at the Trinity Assembly of God Church, Midlothian on Tuesday, said Rev. Rufus Richendrer, pastor.

Services will be conducted nightly at 7:30 with Saturday and Sunday nights being "Special Youth Nights". Wilson has traveled throughout the United States ministering at youth revivals and youth camps.

The church buses will make their regular runs and persons desiring transportation should call OV 9-9701.

Birth Announced

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beavers, Salt Lake City, Utah, announce the birth of a daughter Thursday in Holy Cross Hospital there. The mother is the former Mary Louise Alexander, daughter of Mrs. Frank Alexander, Shatt, and the late Frank Alexander.

Elk Garden High School Burglarized

KEYSER, W. Va. — A breaking and entering at Elk Garden High School which resulted in damages totaling about $200 is being investigated by Trooper Donald Elmore of the local detachment of West Virginia state police.

Authorities said entrance to the building was made sometime Thursday night through a rear door leading to the gymnasium where the culprits gained easy access to the main corridors of the building.

Trooper Elmore said two soft drink machines and a milk machine were smashed and the glass on the office door was broken and files ransacked in an apparent attempt to find more money.

Principal Frank Burgess said that no money was secured from the milk machine or from the office since all of that money had been locked in the safe.

About $15 was believed to have been stolen from a soft drink machine, authorities said.

Trooper Elmore said there were reports that the school at Kitzmiller had been broken into during the night and it was believed that damages there would run higher than at Elk Garden.

Last spring prior to the dismissal of school for the summer vacation, breaking and enterings were investigated at the two schools.

EUB Ministers Hold Luncheon

KEYSER, W. Va. — Dr. Floyd L. Fulk, Broadway, Va., superintendent of the Virginia Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, spoke here this week during a luncheon meeting of ministers of the Keyser District.

He explained the new Christian Service Fund which will become effective October 1.

Rev. Howard L. Fulk, pastor of St. Luke's EUB Church, Martinsburg, and ministerial leader of the district, spoke on the newly authorized observance of Bible Week in September and October.

Rev. Millard R. Floyd, pastor of Calvary Church, Keyser, spoke on the various phases of the life program, a stewardship emphasis is promoted last year in many churches throughout the conference.

Attending the meeting were Rev. Thomas Crogan, Bayard; Rev. Robert Dunn, pastor of the newly constituted Mill Creek Charge; Rev. Mr. Floyd; Dr. Fulk; Rev. Howard L. Fulk; Rev. Fred Hickle, Westport; Carl W. Hiser, secretary of the conference and newly assigned to the local church; Dr. Miller; and Rev. George S. Widmyer, pastor of the Potomac Park-Ridgeley Charge.

Barton Legion Auxiliary Elects

BARTON — Jane Davis was installed as president of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit of Barton Post 189 by Mrs. Alveda Collins, Westport, Mountain District president.

Other officers installed include: Mary Gattens, first vice president; Phyllis Dye, second vice president; Laura Shuhart, treasurer; Ruth Shuhart, secretary; Ruby Gattens, chaplain; Alice Ashby, historian and Elsie Clark, sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Vivian McKenzie, Westernport, was acting sergeant-at-arms in the installation ceremony. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Group Is Planning Horseback Ride

FROSTBURG — Fourteen patrons of the Kerns Riding Stables will leave on an overnight trail ride today at 11 a. m. The group plans to travel west on the Bradock Trail stopping at John's Rock on Big Savage Mountain to eat lunch.

According to Fred Kerns, the riders plan to camp overnight at the Piney Dam and on Sunday will continue to ride the Bradock Trail, returning home Sunday evening.

Chaperones on the trip will be Mr. and Mrs. John McAfee, Edward Ryan and Kerns.

Barron Arrives In Berlin On European Tour

BERLIN (UPI) — West Virginia Gov. W. W. Barron arrived here Friday about noon Berlin time and was greeted at Tempelhof Airfield by a U. S. Air Force honor guard which actually rolled out the red carpet for the governor.

Barron and West Virginia Adj. Gen. Gene Hal Williams are touring Europe. Barron started off the tour in dramatic fashion Tuesday by flying under combat flight conditions with a West Virginia 16th Special Forces team participating in maneuvers.

Barron's tour also has featured visits to Paris, Heidelberg and Munich.

Williams reported the West Virginia team was very impressive in the air drop Tuesday with no injuries suffered and their mission accomplished.

Williams and Barron will lunch Saturday with 750th Support Squadron of the U. S. Air Force in Berlin. He said the squadron has invited all West Virginia servicemen in the area to attend the lunch and meet the governor of the Mountain State.

Garrett Co. Historical Tour Today

OAKLAND — Itinerary for the ninth annual tour of the Garrett County Historical Society, which will be held today, has been announced.

All those wishing to participate in the tour are asked to assemble at 9 a. m. in the Ruth Enlow Library, and to bring a picnic lunch.

First of nine stops on the trek will be Indian Grave where F. R. Corliss Jr. will comment on Indian culture in Garrett County.

In the residence of Thomas Browning, son of Meschach, on Muddy Creek, Robert B. Garrett, editor of "The Glades Star" will talk about the manuscript of Meschach Browning.

At Cranesville Swamp, the third stop, Mr. Roland L. Guthrie, director of the West Virginia University Arboretum will speak to the caravan in respect to the procurement of this area by the Nature Conservancy, Inc.

"Friend's Delight" at the Community Park on Sang Run will be marked by Felix Robinson's discussion of the story of Betty Hove, and where the Caravan will hold picnic lunch.

Other locations to be visited will be the site of Iron Furnace on Bear Creek, the house that John Kerling built in Friendsville, the Friend Cemetery near Friendsville, the site of the James McMullen Log Cabin and Monument 34 of the 1910 West Virginia Maryland Survey, where Floyd Stiles, Kingwood, will comment.

W. Va. Highway Death Toll 273

By United Press International
The deaths of two servicemen reported Friday boosted to 10 the number of road deaths occurring in West Virginia during the space of a few hours on rain-slick highways Thursday night.

Robert Ziegler, 22, Parkersburg, Ohio, died when their car collided with a mail truck on U. S. 50 near Pennsboro, Ritchie County.

Two other occupants of the car, David Spicer, 20, Marietta, Ohio, and James Tenkman, 21, St. Bernard, Ohio, were injured. The mail truck driver, John Shuman, Parkersburg, was not seriously injured.

In the other Thursday accidents previously reported, a Pt. Pleasant woman, her year-old daughter and five-year-old son were killed in a two-car collision on U. S. 21 north of Charleston, and a five-year-old Wellsburg girl was fatally injured when struck by a car near her home.

The deaths boosted the state's road toll for the year to date to 273, compared with 297 at this time a year ago.

Elk Garden High School Burglarized

KEYSER, W. Va. — A breaking and entering at Elk Garden High School which resulted in damages totaling about $200 is being investigated by Trooper Donald Elmore of the local detachment of West Virginia state police.

Authorities said entrance to the building was made sometime Thursday night through a rear door leading to the gymnasium where the culprits gained easy access to the main corridors of the building.

Trooper Elmore said two soft drink machines and a milk machine were smashed and the glass on the office door was broken and files ransacked in an apparent attempt to find more money.

Principal Frank Burgess said that no money was secured from the milk machine or from the office since all of that money had been locked in the safe.

About $15 was believed to have been stolen from a soft drink machine, authorities said.

Trooper Elmore said there were reports that the school at Kitzmiller had been broken into during the night and it was believed that damages there would run higher than at Elk Garden.

Last spring prior to the dismissal of school for the summer vacation, breaking and enterings were investigated at the two schools.

Barron Arrives In Berlin On European Tour

BERLIN (UPI) — West Virginia Gov. W. W. Barron arrived here Friday about noon Berlin time and was greeted at Tempelhof Airfield by a U. S. Air Force honor guard which actually rolled out the red carpet for the governor.

Barron and West Virginia Adj. Gen. Gene Hal Williams are touring Europe. Barron started off the tour in dramatic fashion Tuesday by flying under combat flight conditions with a West Virginia 16th Special Forces team participating in maneuvers.

Barron's tour also has featured visits to Paris, Heidelberg and Munich.

Williams reported the West Virginia team was very impressive in the air drop Tuesday with no injuries suffered and their mission accomplished.

Williams and Barron will lunch Saturday with 7350th Support Squadron of the U. S. Air Force in Berlin. He said the squadron has invited all West Virginia servicemen in the area to attend the lunch and meet the governor of the Mountain State.

CUF Group Begins Drive At Keyser

KEYSER—William E. Michael, and Arthur R. Tenney, co-chairmen of the Keyser-McCoole Area Classified Division in the seventh County United Fund campaign, combined their efforts at an early-morning breakfast Thursday to kick off the 1963 drive.

Michael, assistant professor at Potomac State College, and Tenney, an employee of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Cumberland Division, had no sooner accepted their appointments to C. Edwin Jordan, area general chairman, than they plunged into the campaign.

Before an hour had passed following the kickoff, Michael and Tenney and their classified organization were greeted with the news that the first employee group in the Keyser area chalked up 100 per cent participation and met its goal for the campaign.

Georgia Tech Plays Florida

Network To Carry Today's Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Billy Lottbridge, Georgia Tech's Mr. Do-It-All, gets a chance to show off his multiple talents to a nationwide audience Saturday when he leads the Yellow Jackets against formidable Florida in the first major game of the college football season.

The 6-foot-1, 184-pound quarterback, who runs, passes, punts, kicks off and boots field goals, figures to be one of the featured performers in the contest which is on network television (CBS-TV, 1 p.m., EST).

Tech is a 6-point favorite. Most of the big college powers don't get into action until next week-end, but there are half a dozen or so scattered games bringing alumni out of summer's hibernation.

Davidson travels to Furman, bent on cracking a jinx that has extended over 13 games in the series. It is a night game, as are Memphis State at Southern Mississippi, the Quantico Marines at Xavier, Ohio, Eastern New Mexico at New Mexico State and Eastern Carolina at Richmond. Montana at British Columbia and Gettysburg at Buffalo are day attractions.

Romney High School's Pioneers rolled to their second win of the season yesterday, romping 48-7 over a visiting Franklin High eleven.

Doug Freeland and Paul Parsons headed the first half attack as the Pioneers piled up a 34-0 advantage, then went with reserves through most of the final two periods.

Freeland scored three touchdowns. He intercepted a pass by Franklin's Joe Blizard and returned it 48 yards for a TD in the opening quarter. Scored again on a 60-yard pass play from Don Wade and tallied on a six-yard run.

Parsons, who was cited by coach Roger Parker as his "back of the week," scored on runs of 22 and two yards, and accounted for 107 yards of Romney's 259 rushing total. Guard and linebacker John Breinig was named "line-man of the week" by Parker.

The Panthers' lone score came in the final period on a five-yard dash.

Jim Alkire, who scored for Romney on a 33-yard ramble, kicked five extra points in six attempts. Dave Carl's only attempt from placement was good.

A clinic will be held today at the Cumberland YMCA in conjunction with the "Punt, Pass and Kick" competition being co-sponsored by the Cumberland Rotary Club and Gratton Ford, Inc. Following the 1 p.m. instruction period an open house will be held for the boys and their parents. Free swimming will be available. The program will be supervised by Lynn Patchin and Ben Haines.

The local PPK competition is scheduled Saturday, October 12 at Fort Hill Stadium.

Deane Beman, Dick Sikes Play For U.S. Amateur Golf Crown

Marylander Defeats Archer, Coe Loses To NCAA Champ

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Deane Beman and Dick Sikes, a pair of fantastic putting machines, play Saturday for the United States Amateur Golf Championship.

Sikes, the NCAA champion, had the help of a friendly tree near the 11th green of the afternoon round to help stop a tiring Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, 2 and 1, in a spectacular 36-hole semifinal over the rugged terrain of the Wakonda Club course.

Beman, who held this title in 1960 after winning the British Amateur a year earlier, eliminated George Archer, gangling ranch-hand from Gilroy, Calif., 5 and 4, in their upper bracket duel.

Coe, now 39 and twice a winner of this championship, had cut

Sikes' 4-up margin after 21 holes 2-up by the time they had reached the 23rd.

On the 29th Sikes sent his second squarely into the branches of a huge tree near the green and the ball kicked back onto the green. Sikes got down in two for a half. The tree overlooks a deep ravine and Sikes' ball likely would have skidded down the incline and given Coe the hole.

The title round over the 6,896-roller-coaster yards of the 36-36-72 course also will be at 36 holes.

Lead 2 Up In Morning

Both Beman and Sikes went to lunch holding identical 2-up leads after their morning round but they gained their edges in different ways.

The Bethesda, Md., insurance man quickly moved 5-up when Archer "too cool and too nervous to hit them good," went seven strokes over par on the first seven holes. Beman needed that cushion when the 6-foot-6 Archer unleashed a string of birdies on the incoming nine. He whipped through the last 11 holes in four under par.

In contrast, the Coe-Sikes morning duel was one of steady, near-par golf highlighted by three consecutive birdies by the University of Arkansas student from No. 14 through No. 16.

Archer played much better golf during the afternoon round but fell back steadily behind the sensational putting of Beman.

Sikes, twice the National Public Links champion although only 23, hiked his advantage to three holes by ramming in a 27-footer on the first hole after lunch.

He had poked home birdie putts of 15, 22 and 44 feet on the morning tour.

Mountaineer High Scores 3d Triumph

Bears Romp Over Circleville, 44-6

Mountaineer	Circleville
First Downs	17
Passes Completed	15
Passes Intercepted By	2
Yards On Passes	25
Yards Lost Penalties	45
Net Yards Rushing	68

Scoring one or more touchdowns in every period, Mountaineer High School of Davis, clobbered Circleville High School's Indians by the score of 44 to 6 yesterday at Circleville.

The victory was the third straight of the season for Coach Stanley Sedmoe's Tucker County team who were undefeated and tied twice in 10 games last year.

Ronald Stewart passed eight yards to William Buckley for the Bears' first touchdown and Buckley scored the extra point on a pass from George Arnold. Jack Roberts set up the second scored by recovering a blocked punt and Allen Heintz smashed over from the one. Circleville trailed 13-6 at halftime after Williams passed 15 yards to Billy Jennings for the Indians' only touchdown.

Joe Drenning dashed 12 yards for the visitors' third td and Heitz galloped 28 yards off tackle to make it 25-0 at the end of the third period.

Mountaineer scored twice in the final quarter. George Arnold slammed over from the one, Steve Hynes swiped a pass and ran 31 yards and Dave DiBacco, second string quarterback, covered 36 yards on a touchdown run. Jim Arnold ran the point after Hynes' score.

The Bears played without the services of Steve DiBacco, regular quarterback, and Jerry Flannigan, fullback, who are out with elbow injuries.

"Butch" Stewart, regular end, quarterbacked the team and gained 58 yards in seven carries. Drenning at right half picked up 37 yards in six tries, George Arnold gained 43 yards in seven tries and Heintz racked up 104 yards in 11 carries.

Score by periods:
Mountaineer 7 6 12 19-44
Circleville 0 6 0 0-6

Market Resists Selling

[illegible]

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks dipped into the red in the averages at the last minute Friday after holding a small gain through most of the session.

Brokers had expected Thursday's easier trend, combined with normal pre-weekend profit taking to hold prices down and they were impressed with the list's ability to hold up so well under selling pressure.

Dow-Jones industrial average rose around a point early in the day but gradually slipped back and finished off 0.13 at 740.13. The more superstitious members of the Wall Street community noted the 0.13 drop in the blue chip indicator occurred on Friday the Thirteenth.

Standard & Poor's more inclusive 500 stock index, however, showed a gain of 0.02 at 73.17. Trading lagged at 5,230,000 shares compared with the 5,560,000 shares which changed hands on Thursday.

Of the 1,309 issues traded, 541 advanced, 61 to new 1963 highs and 486 declined, 14 to new lows.

College Here Reports More Full Students

109 Register;
97 Part-Time

Enrollment at Allegany Community College for the first semester of its third term has reached 109 full-time students and 97 part-time students and more are expected, according to Mrs. Sharon Holt, new registrar at the college.

Although the total number of students has not yet quite reached the level of last September, there is an increasing percentage of full-time students.

A year ago there were only 83 full-time students but the college had 135 part-time students. Two years ago, at the beginning of the first year of operations, the college on Frederick Street had only 32 full-time students and 70 part-time students.

Mrs. Holt said the greatest increase for the new school year was in enrollment in chemistry, physics, biology and history. There also is a sizeable upswing in enrollment for mathematics, English, speech and physical education.

Girl Injured As Car Upsets On Turnpike

A 24-year-old college student from Irwin, Pa., was hospitalized yesterday morning when the car she was operating went out of control on the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Somerset County and turned over.

Ila J. Sensenich, 24, of 625 Oak Street, Irwin, was admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital with lacerations of her face and head and abrasions as well as possible internal injuries. Her condition is satisfactory.

Pennsylvania State Police said the accident occurred at 9:25 a.m. about a mile east of the Allegheny Tunnel on the turnpike.

The woman was traveling east on the highway when she lost control of the car, which skidded and hit a guard rail, turned over and came to rest on its top.

The car was demolished, according to police, who said the woman was traveling along at the time of the accident.

FOE Leaders Plan Visit

The Maryland and District of Columbia state aerie officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will make an official visitation to Cresaptown Aerie 2883 next Sunday, September 22.

Their visit will be followed by a district meeting in the aerie home. Herman L. Myers, state secretary, said the state officers will meet at noon and the meeting will be held two hours later.

On Saturday evening prior to the meetings, the Cresaptown aerie will entertain visiting Eagles and their ladies with a dance at the home. The ladies also will be invited to the lodge room on Sunday, since an addition has been made to the home.

The state officers will meet at Cumberland Aerie's home on Sunday, October 27, and the district meeting also will be held that day.

Woman Requests Dust Control Work

Mrs. Paul A. Judy yesterday wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners requesting additional dust control work on East Wilson Road in the Oldtown area.

The matter was referred to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly. Mrs. Judy said that dust control trucks went through the area last spring but contended the treatment was inadequate.

Play Equipment Is Coming In

Heavy playground equipment has been removed from several school playgrounds, according to C. Eugene Mason, recreation director.

He said the equipment will be left up another week or two on city-owned grounds and on a few school grounds at the request of principals.

The equipment has been taken to the Street Department warehouse for repairs and storage.

It's Been A Good 48 Years

Governor J. Millard Tawes is seen addressing the annual banquet of the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters of Maryland here last night. Gov. Tawes, who is a past supreme representative of the order, told the group he has been a member for 48 years and "enjoyed every minute of it." The Governor extolled the principles of the order in his address. Nearly 300 members and their guests from all parts of the state attended.

Ministers To Resume Meetings

The Greater Cumberland Ministerial Association will hold its first meeting of the fall on Monday at 10:30 a. m. in Central YMCA.

The group will continue its practice of meeting on the third Monday of each month.

Rev. William S. Cox, newly elected president, will preside at the business session. Following the meeting, lunch will be served.

Other officers who will begin their duties at this meeting are Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, vice president; Rev. Stanley G. Harrell, secretary; Rev. Hays K. Logan, treasurer; Rev. George Widmyer, Rev. Emil G. Teysier, directors.

Chairmen of committees are Rev. George Hazen, program; Rev. Robert Moales, special services; Rev. William Balderson, recreation; Rev. Archie McIntyre Jr., institutional services; Rev. Jacob H. Snyder, membership; Rev. William P. Frank, public relations.

All clergymen who are new in the greater Cumberland area are especially urged to attend this meeting, according to Rev. Mr. Cox.

College Lab Needs Skeleton

Wanted: One human skeleton. Dr. Myron L. Simpson, professor of biology at Allegany Community College, reported yesterday that his laboratory for biology and human anatomy has most of the equipment it needs.

The one major need is for a human skeleton, which ordinarily costs about $300. Dr. Simpson said the college has not budgeted the necessary funds for the skeleton and he is hopeful some local organization might contribute the funds for the skeleton.

Openings Available In Bridge Class

A Beginners Bridge Class will open next Wednesday at Central YMCA under the sponsorship of the City Recreation Department, and there are still a few openings.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, said those interested should contact the City Recreation Department at City Hall to register.

The course will consist of 11 lessons on the Goren Point System with J. D. Paddleford as instructor.

Breakdown Shows Resurfacing Work

A machine breakdown at noon yesterday halted the resurfacing of Riehl Avenue and Dilley Street. The blacktop spreader being used by the Carl Stickley firm broke down after the leveling course was placed on the streets.

The equipment will be repaired over the weekend and work will resume on the streets Monday, according to Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder.

The equipment will be moved to South Cumberland after the two streets are completed Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. Palmer, 725 Braddock Road, a daughter yesterday.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Shaffer, LaVale, a son yesterday.

Little Faces U.S. Liquor Charge

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Cumberland man was among seven tavern owners and bar managers charged Friday with selling cheap or whisky out of bottles of more expensive brands.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Arthur G. Murphy filed the criminal information in U.S. District Court charging Harry W. Little of Cumberland, owner of the Southern Bar, and the others, all Baltimoreans.

Murphy said the charges were the first resulting from a statewide investigation by the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of the Internal Revenue Service. He said revenue agents used a special testing machine to detect substitution in imported domestic whiskies.

Each of the men was charged with four counts. The charge against Little dealt with seven bottles of whisky.

City Taxes Rolling In

The cash register at the City Collector's Office was kept busy yesterday as a steady stream of customers came in to pay their 1963 real estate taxes.

Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill said yesterday's collections reached the $43,000 mark at 2:30 p. m. Another $15,000 of new taxes came in Thursday, within hours after tax bills were delivered.

Mr. Hill said all bills have been placed in the mail and should have been received by this time. However, the office of Collector George E. Davis has been receiving a number of inquiries about the whereabouts of bills.

Anyone who has not received his 1963-64 city tax bill should contact the tax office, 722-2000, Hill said.

Patient In Hospital

Mrs. John Hazard, 819 Braddock Road, is a surgical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Nurses To Sponsor Safety Week

District 1, Allegany-Garrett Licensed Practical Nurses, will sponsor a "Safety Spectacular Week," September 15-21, according to Mrs. Helen K. Crowe, president of the district group.

Mrs. Crowe said the district group is sponsoring the event in conjunction with the National Federation of Licensed Nurses and the Maryland Licensed Practical Nurses.

The object of the safety week is to call attention to the importance of knowing and obeying all traffic signs, signals and markings to help lower the number of accidents.

All of Maryland's 5,938 licensed practical nurses are taking part in a state-wide program to help promote highway safety.

Injured Man, Woman 'Fair'

Two persons, injured in separate accidents early yesterday, were in "fair" condition last night at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Robert L. Otto, 28, of 4 Fairview Street, Frostburg, received multiple injuries when his east-bound car struck the rear of a coal truck while descending the east slope of Big Savage Mountain at Frostburg at 3:30 a. m.

Tfc. Thomas E. Ruppert said the truck was driven by Bruce Marker, 49, of RD 1, Rockwood, Pa.

Mrs. Catherine Agnes Duffy, 68, of Elkhart, Ind., was injured when a car driven by her son, Dennis B. Duffy, 29, of Chicago, went out of control on wet U. S. 40 while descending the west slope of Town Hill, hit an embankment and overturned. Duffy was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital and was released. Tfc. J. W. McFarland investigated.

Governor Lauds Principles Of Pythian Order

Officers Will Be Installed Tonight

Governor J. Millard Tawes last night lauded the principles of the Knights of Pythias order—tolerance in religion, obedience to law and loyalty to country—during the annual banquet of the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters here.

He was the principal speaker at the banquet attended by nearly 300 members of 28 Knights of Pythias lodges and 20 Pythian Sister temples, held in the Fort Cumberland Hotel here.

Gov. Tawes noted that in a few months the Knights of Pythias will be celebrating the 100th anniversary of its founding.

Religious tolerance is a pillar in the structure of the order, he said, just as it is in the government of the state and nation.

Of the second tenet, obedience to law, Gov. Tawes said no government can exist unless its laws are obeyed, and no citizen is justified in disobeying them.

Nothing should be more dear and more sacred, he said, than the love and respect we owe our country, and "our loyalty should be constant, unyielding and unwavering."

He closed his speech with an essay on friendship, saying men develop friendships because they are useful one to another.

He recounted a story told to him many years ago about Charles Schwab, the famous steel magnate.

When Mr. Schwab was 72, the governor said, a lawsuit was filed against him which the average businessman would have settled out of court.

But Mr. Schwab, he said, insisted on going to trial in the case and, at its conclusion, the verdict was in his favor.

When the verdict was announced, Mr. Schwab asked the court if he could make a statement to the younger people.

He said that 90 per cent of the trouble he had in life resulted from his having been good to people. "If you want to go through life without trouble, he said, be 'hard boiled' and say 'no' to everybody."

"If you do this," he said, "you will not be molested." But then, he added with a smile, "you will have to do without friends and that isn't much fun."

And Governor Tawes made it clear, as he addressed the group, that he has had lots of fun with his friends and that the friends he has in the order are very dear to him.

He recounted that he signed the application for membership in the order when he was 21, is now 69, and has "enjoyed every minute" of the 48 years of association with his friends in the Pythian order.

Nominate State
Officers for the coming year were nominated during yesterday's business sessions. Nominees include:

Grand chancellor — William Freyman of Westminster Lodge 58.

Grand vice chancellor—George Coddington, Oakland, of Garrett Lodge 113.

Grand prelate — Ercel Chaney of Laurel Lodge 155, and James W. Jackson of Annapolis Lodge 8.

Grand secretary — William H. Waters of Gaithersburg Lodge 123.

Railway Historical Group To Visit Area By Train

For the first time in seven years a Western Maryland Railway passenger train will pick up passengers on a round trip between Baltimore and Cumberland on Saturday, October 12.

The train is the Blue Mountain Express, sponsored by the Baltimore Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society.

The train will leave Camden Station, Baltimore, at 8:15 a. m. and will stop at Glyndon at 9:30 a. m., Westminster at 10 a. m., Thurmont at 10:50 a. m. and Hagerstown at 11:50 a. m.

There will be a stop of about half an hour for sightseeing in Cumberland, with the return set for 3:30 p. m. and arrival in Baltimore at 8:55 p. m. The trip will include the Blue Ridge and Allegheny mountains and the upper Potomac Valley. A picture stop has been planned near Hancock.

The 330-mile excursion is open to the public and tickets must be ordered by October 7. Tickets and information may be obtained from Mrs. R. E. Hampson, 3514 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, or from any of the Western Maryland agents at the various stops.

The original Blue Ridge Express operated around the turn of the century between Baltimore and the Blue Ridge resort area. The Baltimore chapter revived the name of the well-known train last fall when over 700 persons made the trip.

Office Entered, Car Stolen

Marshall Tewell, who operates Knox Street Motors, told city police that someone broke into his place of business, took some pennies and a set of car keys, and drove a car away from the premises.

The business is located at 105 Knox Street. Mr. Tewell said the culprit broke out a large pane of glass on the east side of the building.

After gaining entry the intruder took about $1.50 in pennies from the register and state tax can. No auto parts were taken.

The intruder found a set of keys in the office and proceeded to drive away in a blue four-door 1960 Chevrolet Impala, Maryland license plates DB 45-06.

Western Md. County Officials To Meet October 3

The next quarterly meeting of the county commissioners of Western Maryland has been postponed until October 3.

It will be held here under the sponsorship of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. Originally, it was planned to have the meeting late in September but that date did not suit the commissioners of several counties.

Invited here are the commissioners of Garrett, Washington, Frederick, Carroll and Howard counties.

Two Women Charged With Shoplifting

Ruth Kenney of Rawlins and Vanda Shook were arrested by police yesterday in connection with shoplifting at Tri-State Discount Center.

Authorities said they will be given hearings on September 30 at 2:30 p. m. Merchandise in the amount of $20.40 was reported taken from the local store on Gay Street. They were released on bond.

Peter A. Lukas Indicted On Perjury Charge

Court Testimony Is Challenged

Peter A. Lukas, former local entertainer and now president of the American International Savings and Loan Association, has been indicted on a perjury charge by a Prince Georges County grand jury.

The one-count indictment was returned last month but was not announced until Thursday when Lukas surrendered to Sheriff William J. Jamison. Lukas was released on $5,000 bond.

The indictment against Lukas, who now resides in Baltimore, was returned as a result of testimony he gave April 16 in a hearing before Circuit Court Judge Ralph W. Powers who was considering a motion by the Attorney General of Maryland to place American International Savings and Loan in receivership.

The indictment said Lukas made a false statement at the hearing that he had not taken on any new obligations without the leave of the court since January 1962.

Lukas was named president of the company in December 1961, and in April 1963 Charles P. Finley, a Mount Rainier attorney, was named as receiver for the firm which had offices in Baltimore, Takoma Park and Bethesda.

Area Planning Conference Set For Today

Allegany County is expected to be well represented today when more than 150 community leaders from four counties gather at the American Legion Hall in Hagerstown for the first Western Maryland Regional Planning Conference.

Greetings will be extended by Evan Crossley, president of the Washington County Board of Commissioners; Mayor Winslow Burhans and James J. O'Donnell, director of the State Planning Commission.

Addresses will be given by Rep. Charles C. Mathias Jr., of the sixth Congressional District; Harry O. Boswell, chairman of the Maryland Department of Economic Development, and Lee A. Syracuse, assistant director of the community facilities and urban renewal department of the National Association of Home Builders.

Following lunch, 15 workshops will be conducted during the afternoon session.

The conference is being sponsored by the State Planning Department in cooperation with the planning and zoning commissions of Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties. The Potomac Edison Company, Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and Western Maryland Railway helped plan the conference.

Firettes Plan Car Wash Today

The Teen-Age Firettes of Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company will hold a car wash at the fire hall today from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Adult advisors to the Firettes will pick up and deliver cars for persons who call PA 2-3637.

A bake sale will be held at the same time. Firettes are requested to report for work on their scheduled shifts.

Tax Exemption Rule Explained

Some elderly property owners of Allegany County have expressed confusion about the county law which provides partial exemption from county real estate and personal property taxes, according to James G. Stevenson, clerk of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Any taxpayers above the age of 65 may earn up to $1,200 a year without jeopardizing his county tax exemption. No tax will be charged on the first $3,500 of assessed valuation.

Another provision is that other relatives of the person above 65 years old cannot earn more than a total of $3,600 a year if living in the house on which the exemption is granted.

Pushing For Improvements

These Route 40 Association members, standing on one of the newest sections of U. S. 40, hold a sign they will take to the First Western Maryland Regional Planning Conference today at Hagerstown, in their effort to secure support for the proposed Rocky Gap State Park and for further improvements to U. S. 40. Members are, left to right, Robert J. Martin, a director; Dr.

College Here Reports More Full Students

109 Register; 97 Part-Time

Enrollment at Allegany Community College for the first semester of its third term has reached 109 full-time students and 97 part-time students and more are expected, according to Mrs. Sharon Holt, new registrar at the college.

Although the total number of students has not yet quite reached the level of last September, there is an increasing percentage of full-time students.

A year ago there were only 83 full-time students but the college had 135 part-time students. Two years ago, at the beginning of its first year of operations, the college on Frederick Street had only 32 full-time students and 70 part-time students.

Mrs. Holt said the greatest increase for the new school year was in enrollment in chemistry, physics, biology and history. There also is a sizeable upswing in enrollment for mathematics, English, speech and physical education.

It's Been A Good 48 Years

Governor J. Millard Tawes is seen addressing the annual banquet of the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters of Maryland here last night. Gov. Tawes, who is a past supreme representative of the order, told the group he has been a member for 48 years and "enjoyed every minute of it." The Governor extolled the principles of the order in his address. Nearly 300 members and their guests from all parts of the state attended.

Governor Lauds Principles Of Pythian Order

Officers Will Be Installed Tonight

Governor J. Millard Tawes last night lauded the principles of the Knights of Pythias order—tolerance in religion, obedience to law and loyalty to country—during the annual banquet of the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters here.

He was the principal speaker at the banquet attended by nearly 300 members of 28 Knights of Pythias lodges and 20 Pythian Sister temples, held in the Fort Cumberland Hotel here.

Gov. Tawes noted that in a few months the Knights of Pythias will be celebrating the 100th anniversary of its founding.

Religious tolerance is a pillar in the structure of the order, he said, just as it is in the government of the state and nation.

Of the second tenet, obedience to law, Gov. Tawes said no government can exist unless its laws are obeyed, and no citizen is justified in disobeying them.

Lauds Friendship

"If they are unreasonable and unjust," he said, "they should be repealed or revised, of course, and democratic government itself contains the machinery for repeal and revision."

Nothing should be more dear and more sacred, he said, than the love and respect we owe our country, and "our loyalty should be constant, unyielding and unwavering."

He closed his speech with an essay on friendship, saying men develop friendships because they are useful one to another.

He recounted a story told to him many years ago about Charles Schwab, the famous steel magnate.

Relates Story

When Mr. Schwab was 72, the governor said, a lawsuit was filed against him which the average businessman would have settled out of court.

But Mr. Schwab, he said, insisted on going to trial in the case and, at its conclusion, the verdict was in his favor.

When the verdict was announced, Mr. Schwab asked the court if he could make a statement to the younger people.

He said that 90 per cent of the trouble he had in life resulted from his having been good to people. "If you want to go through life without trouble," he said, "be 'hard boiled' and say 'no' to everybody."

"If you do this," he said, "you will not be molested." But then, he added with a smile, "you will have to do without friends and that isn't much fun."

And Governor Tawes made it clear, as he addressed the group, that he has had lots of fun with his friends and that the friends he has in the order are very dear to him.

He recounted that he signed the application for membership in the order when he was 21, is now 69, and has "enjoyed every minute" of the 48 years of association with his friends in the Pythian order.

Nominate State

Officers for the coming year were nominated during yesterday's business sessions. Nominees include:

Grand chancellor — William Freyman of Westminster Lodge 58.

Grand vice chancellor—George Coddington, Oakland, of Garrett Lodge 113.

Grand prelate — Ercel Chaney of Laurel Lodge 155, and James W. Jackson of Annapolis Lodge 8.

Grand secretary — William H. Waters of Gaithersburg Lodge 123.

Railway Historical Group To Visit Area By Train

For the first time in seven years a Western Maryland Railway passenger train will pick up passengers on a round trip between Baltimore and Cumberland on Saturday, October 12.

The train is the Blue Mountain Express, sponsored by the Baltimore Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society.

The train will leave Camden Station, Baltimore, at 8:15 a. m. and will stop at Glyndon at 9:30 a. m., Westminster at 10 a. m., Thurmont at 10:50 a. m. and Hagerstown at 11:50 a. m.

There will be a stop of about half an hour for sightseeing in Cumberland, with the return set for 3:30 p. m. and arrival in Baltimore at 8:55 p. m. The trip will include the Blue Ridge and Allegheny mountains and the upper Potomac Valley. A picture stop has been planned near Hancock.

The 330-mile excursion is open to the public and tickets must be ordered by October 7. Tickets and information may be obtained from Mrs. R. E. Hampson, 3514 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, or from any of the Western Maryland agents at the various stops.

The original Blue Ridge Express operated around the turn of the century between Baltimore and the Blue Ridge resort area. The Baltimore chapter revived the name of the well-known train last fall when over 700 persons made the trip.

Peter A. Lukas Indicted On Perjury Charge

Court Testimony Is Challenged

Peter A. Lukas, former local entertainer and now president of the American International Savings and Loan Association, has been indicted on a perjury charge by a Prince Georges County grand jury.

The one-count indictment was returned last month but was not announced until Thursday when Lukas surrendered to Sheriff William J. Jamison. Lukas was released on $5,000 bond.

The indictment against Lukas, who now resides in Baltimore, was returned as a result of testimony he gave April 16 in a hearing before Circuit Court Judge Ralph W. Powers who was considering a motion by the Attorney General of Maryland to place American International Savings and Loan in receivership.

The indictment said Lukas made a false statement at the hearing that he had not taken on any new obligations without the leave of the court since January 1962.

Lukas was named president of the company in December 1961, and in April 1963 Charles P. Finley, a Mount Rainier attorney, was named as receiver for the firm which had offices in Baltimore, Takoma Park and Bethesda.

Girl Injured As Car Upsets On Turnpike

A 24-year-old college student from Irwin, Pa., was hospitalized yesterday morning when the car she was operating went out of control on the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Somerset County and turned over.

Ila J. Sensenich, 24, of 625 Oak Street, Irwin, was admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital with lacerations of her face and head and abrasions as well as possible internal injuries. Her condition is satisfactory.

Pennsylvania State Police said the accident occurred at 9:25 a.m. about a mile east of the Allegheny Tunnel on the turnpike.

The woman was traveling east on the highway when she lost control of the car, which skidded and hit a guard rail, turned over and came to rest on its top.

The car was demolished, according to police, who said the woman was traveling along at the time of the accident.

Ministers To Resume Meetings

The Greater Cumberland Ministerial Association will hold its first meeting of the fall on Monday at 10:30 a. m. in Central YMCA.

The group will continue its practice of meeting on the third Monday of each month.

Rev. William S. Cox, newly elected president, will preside at the business session. Following the meeting, lunch will be served.

Other officers who will begin their duties at this meeting are Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, vice president; Rev. Stanley G. Harrell, secretary; Rev. Hays K. Logan, treasurer; Rev. George Widmyer, Rev. Emil G. Teyssier, directors.

Chairmen of committees are Rev. George Hazen, program; Rev. Robert Moales, special services; Rev. William Balderson, recreation; Rev. Archie McIntyre Jr., institutional services; Rev. Jacob H. Snyder, membership; Rev. William P. Frank, public relations.

All clergymen who are new in the greater Cumberland area are especially urged to attend this meeting, according to Rev. Mr. Cox.

Little Faces U.S. Liquor Charge

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Cumberland man was among seven tavern owners and bar managers charged Friday with selling cheaper whisky out of bottles of more expensive brands.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Arthur G. Murphy filed the criminal information in U.S. District Court charging Harry W. Little of Cumberland, owner of the Southern Bar, and the others, all Baltimoreans.

Murphy said the charges were the first resulting from a state-wide investigation by the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of the Internal Revenue Service. He said revenue agents used a special testing machine to detect substitution in imported domestic whiskeys.

Each of the men was charged with four counts. The charge against Little dealt with seven bottles of whisky.

Nurses To Sponsor Safety Week

District 1, Allegany-Garrett Licensed Practical Nurses, will sponsor a "Safety Spectacular Week," September 15-21, according to Mrs. Helen K. Crowe, president of the district group.

Mrs. Crowe said the district group is sponsoring the event in conjunction with the National Federation of Licensed Nurses and the Maryland Licensed Practical Nurses.

The object of the safety week is to call attention to the importance of knowing and obeying all traffic signs, signals and markings to help lower the number of accidents.

All of Maryland's 5,938 licensed practical nurses are taking part in a state-wide program to help promote highway safety.

City Taxes Rolling In

The cash register at the City Collector's Office was kept busy yesterday as a steady stream of customers came in to pay their 1963 real estate taxes.

Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill said yesterday's collections reached the $43,000 mark at 2:30 p. m. Another $15,000 of new taxes came in Thursday, within hours after tax bills were delivered.

Mr. Hill said all bills have been placed in the mail and should have been received by this time. However, the office of Collector George E. Davis has been receiving a number of inquiries about the whereabouts of bills.

Anyone who has not received his 1963-64 city tax bill should call the tax office, 722-2000, Hill said.

Injured Man, Woman 'Fair'

Two persons, injured in separate accidents early yesterday, were in "fair" condition last night at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Robert L. Otto, 28, of 4 Fairview Street, Frostburg, received multiple injuries when his east-bound car struck the rear of a coal truck while descending the east slope of Big Savage Mountain of Frostburg at 3:30 a. m.

Tfc. Thomas E. Ruppert said the truck was driven by Bruce Marker, 49, of RD 1, Rockwood, Pa.

Mrs. Catherine Agnes Duffy, 68, of Elkhart, Ind., was injured when a car driven by her son, Dennis B. Duffy, 29, of Chicago, went out of control on wet U. S. 40 while descending the west slope of Town Hill, hit an embankment and overturned. Duffy was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital and was released. Tfc. J. W. McFarland investigated.

Patient In Hospital

Mrs. John Hazard, 819 Bradock Road, is a surgical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

College Lab Needs Skeleton

Wanted: One human skeleton.

Dr. Myron L. Simpson, professor of biology at Allegany Community College, reported yesterday that his laboratory for biology and human anatomy has most of the equipment it needs.

The one major need is for a human skeleton, which ordinarily costs about $300. Dr. Simpson said the college has not budgeted the necessary funds for the skeleton and he is hopeful some local organization might contribute the funds for the skeleton.

Openings Available In Bridge Class

A Beginners Bridge Class will open next Wednesday at Central YMCA under the sponsorship of the City Recreation Department, and there are still a few openings.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, said those interested should contact the City Recreation Department at City Hall to register.

The course will consist of 11 lessons on the Goren Point System with J. D. Paddleford as instructor.

Breakdown Shows Resurfacing Work

A machine breakdown at noon yesterday halted the resurfacing of Riehl Avenue and Dilley Street.

The blacktop spreader being used by the Carl Stickley firm broke down after the leveling course was placed on the streets.

The equipment will be repaired over the weekend and work will resume on the streets Monday, according to Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder.

The equipment will be moved to South Cumberland after the two streets are completed Monday.

Births

FOE Leaders Plan Visit

The Maryland and District of Columbia state aerie officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will make an official visitation to Cresaptown Aerie 2883 next Sunday, September 22.

Their visit will be followed by a district meeting in the aerie home. Herman L. Myers, state secretary, said the state officers will meet at noon and the meeting will be held two hours later.

On Saturday evening prior to the meetings, the Cresaptown aerie will entertain visiting Eagles and their ladies with a dance at the home. The ladies also will be invited to the lodge room on Sunday, since an addition has been made to the home.

The state officers will meet at Cumberland Aerie's home on Sunday, October 27, and the district meeting also will be held that day.

Woman Requests Dust Control Work

Mrs. Paul A. Judy yesterday wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners requesting additional dust control work on East Wilson Road in the Oldtown area.

The matter was referred to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly. Mrs. Judy said that dust control trucks went through the area last spring but contended the treatment was inadequate.

Play Equipment Is Coming In

Heavy playground equipment has been removed from several school playgrounds, according to C. Eugene Mason, recreation director.

He said the equipment will be left up another week or two on city-owned grounds and on a few school grounds at the request of principals.

The equipment has been taken to the Street Department warehouse for repairs and storage.

Office Entered, Car Stolen

Marshall Tewell, who operates Knox Street Motors, told city police that someone broke into his place of business, took some pennies and a set of car keys, and drove a car away from the premises.

The business is located at 105 Knox Street. Mr. Tewell said the culprit broke out a large pane of glass on the east side of the building.

After gaining entry the intruder took about $1.50 in pennies from the register and state tax can. No auto parts were taken.

The intruder found a set of keys in the office and proceeded to drive away in a blue four-door 1960 Chevrolet Impala, Maryland license plates DB 45-06.

Western Md. County Officials To Meet October 3

The next quarterly meeting of the county commissioners of Western Maryland has been postponed until October 3.

It will be held here under the sponsorship of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. Originally, it was planned to have the meeting late in September but that date did not suit the commissioners of several counties.

Invited here are the commissioners of Garrett, Washington, Frederick, Carroll and Howard counties.

Two Women Charged With Shoplifting

Ruth Kenney of Rawlins and Vanda Shook were arrested by police yesterday in connection with shoplifting at Tri-State Discount Center.

Authorities said they will be given hearings on September 30 at 2:30 p. m. Merchandise in the amount of $20.40 was reported taken from the local store on Gay Street. They were released on bond.

25 Entered In Art Show

At least 25 exhibitors from Maryland and Pennsylvania are expected to participate in a sidewalk art show next week at LaVale Plaza Shopping Center, according to Theodore P. Foote, county supervisor of art education.

The artists planning to show some of their work came from as far away as Somerset, Pa., according to Mr. Foote.

Hours for the show are 7 until 9 p. m. September 19, 20 and 21.

A final planning meeting for the show will be held at the County Board of Education office on Washington Street at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. Other artists interested in participating should contact Mr. Foote before Wednesday.

Participants range from students to seasoned professionals.

Included in the show will be oils, watercolors, pastels, collage, mixed media, ceramics, pottery and jewelry.

Church To Hold Special Service

LaVale Methodist Church will observe its fifth "Easter in September" Sunday at the 11 a. m. service, according to Rev. James E. Perry, pastor.

The program will include several selections by the children's and junior choirs under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Clapper, assisted by Mrs. James E. Perry.

The sanctuary choir, directed by Neil Williams, also will sing. Robert H. Mann Jr. will accompany the groups on the organ. Rev. Perry will speak on "By The Dawn's Early Light."

Following the service, families of the church will visit each other's homes. The program is being sponsored by the church's commission on membership and evangelism with Dr. Raymond E. Vanderlinde as chairman.

Three Are Elected To C Of C Board

The filling of three vacancies on the board of directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce was announced yesterday.

Elected were William A. Howard, chairman of the education committee; Francis A. Kenney, chairman of the roads committee, and John R. Wilkinson.

Concert Association Board Will Meet

The board of directors of the Tri-State Community Concert Association will meet at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the parish house of Emmanuel Episcopal Church to complete plans for the 1963-64 season.

Francis D. "Pat" Verdery, association president, said the first of four concerts scheduled in the Fort Hill High School auditorium will be at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday, October 2. On that occasion, the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater, directed by Boris Goldovsky, will present Puccini's Tosca in English.

More than 1,400 season tickets have been distributed. The sale is closed except to newcomers who have moved here since the membership campaign in May.

Area Planning Conference Set For Today

Allegany County is expected to be well represented today when more than 150 community leaders from four counties gather at the American Legion Hall in Hagerstown for the first Western Maryland Regional Planning Conference.

Greetings will be extended by Evan Crossley, president of the Washington County Board of Commissioners; Mayor Winslow Burhans and James J. O'Donnell, director of the State Planning Commission.

Addresses will be given by Rep. Charles C. Mathias Jr. of the sixth Congressional District; Harry O. Boswell, chairman of the Maryland Department of Economic Development, and Lee A. Syracuse, assistant director of the community facilities and urban renewal department of the National Association of Home Builders.

Following lunch, 15 workshops will be conducted during the afternoon session.

The conference is being sponsored by the State Planning Department in cooperation with the planning and zoning commissions of Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties. The Potomac Edison Company, Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and Western Maryland Railway helped plan the conference.

Firettes Plan Car Wash Today

The Teen-Age Firettes of Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company will hold a car wash at the fire hall today from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Adult advisors to the Firettes will pick up and deliver cars for persons who call PA 2-3637.

A bake sale will be held at the same time. Firettes are requested to report for work on their scheduled shifts.

Tax Exemption Rule Explained

Some elderly property owners of Allegany County have expressed confusion about the county law which provides partial exemption from county real estate and personal property taxes, according to James G. Stevenson, clerk of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Any taxpayers above the age of 65 may earn up to $1,200 a year without jeopardizing his county tax exemption. No tax will be charged on the first $3,500 of assessed valuation.

Another provision is that other relatives of the person above 65 years old cannot earn more than a total of $3,600 a year if living in the house on which the exemption is granted.
